BARON KATO, JAPANESE PREMIER, IS DEAD

Cabinet Meeting Today to Consider a Successor, Says Tokio Dispatch

TOKIO, Aug. 24.—Premier Baron Tomosaburo Kato, premier of Japan, who has been ill for several months, died yesterday afternoon, it was announced today. Kato was 64 years old. He was well known in the United States, having headed the Japanese delegation to Washington. The baron came of a family in humble circumstances. He entered the Japanese naval school and at the outbreak of the war (Russo-Japanese), he had risen so rapidly he was in command of a squadron. Kato utilized his opportunity in the Russian war with brilliant success that made his name a household word in Japan. In 1915 Kato became Minister of Marine in the Japanese cabinet. He became premier in June, 1922, although he was incapacitated by illness much of the time since then.

TOKIO, Aug. 24.—The cabinet met today to discuss the selection of a premier to fill the post made vacant by the death of Baron Kato. According to Japanese custom, the news of Kato's death has not yet been officially announced by the government. It is expected within a day or two.

The death of the statesman is admittedly a blow to the party in power and may precipitate a crisis. The names most mentioned in connection with the premiership are Foreign Minister Uchida, Home Minister Mutsuna and Minister Okano.

The alleged vacillation of the government over the trade negotiations with Russia may open the way for the appointment of Goto to the premiership, although Governor Saito of Korea, is spoken of.

Former Premier Yamamoto, who lost following the naval scandal in 1914, may attempt to come back politically. There is sure to be a hard political fight for power and it may prove a spectacular one.

There is a general protest in Japan over the powers' note to China demanding that the railways be guarded and this issue will play a part in the contest over the new premier.

WANTS TRIBUNAL ON REPARATIONS

German Chancellor Declares Payment to Allies Is 42 Billion Marks

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service
BERLIN, Aug. 24.—Germany is willing to leave the right or the wrong of Ruhr occupation to an impartial tribunal, said Chancellor Gustave Stresemann in a speech to the German Chambers of Commerce today. The chancellor continued:

"We believe that putting our own house in order is the best form of German foreign policy. Our reparations payments up to date are considerably higher than we have been credited with by the inter-allied reparations commission. We are willing to submit to any impartial judges the amount paid in up to date."

"The American Institute of Politics estimates the total German payments to date at 26,000,000,000 gold marks," added Chancellor Stresemann. "The German government's own estimate is more than 42,000,000,000 gold marks."

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 24.—The yacht Mariner arrived here at 9:30 o'clock today, winning its race from Honolulu against several other entries.

WAR CRIPPLE 'GAME' ON BIG TRIP

Lieut. C. R. Sies, His Back Broken, Pilots Autoists Across Country

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff

THE story of Mr. and Mrs. Sies' 10,000 mile automobile tour of the United States is more, even, than the account of a wonderful trip; it is an inspiring human document of a man's struggle with and triumph over great odds—for Lieutenant Robert Sies is a retired naval officer, who, five years ago received a broken back in the service of his country. He is a man who won't quit.

On crutches, frequently driving the car himself, changing tires when necessary and helping with the many details of the preparation of meals and pitching camp at night, C. R. Sies was game right through. The result is, he has returned to Glendale in better health than at any time since his injury.

Others in the party, which set out from this city May 9, and returned August 20, were Mrs. Sies and her two sisters, at present staying with them at their 1502 Rock Glen home, Mrs. L. F. Jones and Mrs. A. A. Tisdall.

See Historical Spot
On the long jaunt across the country, the party again, the party took in practically all the prominent historical and patriotic spots, including the Grand Canyon, Colorado Springs, Gettysburg battle field, Pa., Washington, D. C., Princeton university, N. J., the Palisades of the Hudson river, Boston, where they drove along the course of the famous Paul Revere ride; Portland, Me., the White mountains, the Green mountains, Lake Champlain, where they spent July 4th; Montreal, Canada, the Thousand Islands, Niagara Falls, Yellowstone Park, Columbia river, and thence down the Pacific coast home.

Dan Casey Pays With Life for Oregon Killing

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 24.—Dan Casey, convicted murderer, who has wavered during the past ten days between the hope of life and the dread of the hangman, died on the gallows at the state penitentiary here early today. Confronted and last-minute appeals from persons over the state failed to move Governor Walter M. Pierce into commuting the sentence to life imprisonment.

Casey went to the gallows calmly at 8:30 a. m. He had returned to the Catholic faith earlier in the morning. Just before the hood was adjusted he nonchalantly tossed away his gum. He had nothing to say. He was pronounced dead fifteen minutes after the trap was sprung.

Casey died for the murder of J. H. "Buck" Phillips, Portland railroad detective.

Sacramento Hospital Head Under Fire, Quits

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 24.—The resignation of Dr. H. E. Morrison, superintendent of the County Hospital, is on file today with the board of supervisors following his resignation by the latter body on charges of "garter peeping" and negligence of duty to patients at the institution.

Sheridan Downey, attorney for Dr. Morrison, issued a statement declaring the superintendent regarded his resignation for the best interests of all concerned, and requested that he be relieved of his duties at the hospital.

Copper Cops Copper Still, Costs Man $100

Inability to explain how a cop per still, which he claimed to have picked up from the roadside, got strapped underneath his truck before he reached Doran street, southbound on San Fernando road, a couple of weeks ago, yesterday afternoon cost D. Baquedano, who appeared before Judge F. H. Lowe, a fine of $100. His still and three empty wine barrels were confiscated.

W. B. Kirk Arrives In England After Glimpse Of Norway

So enjoyable was the last travel letter from W. B. Kirk that The Glendale Evening News readers have keenly looked forward to the letter herewith published. More travel experiences in Norway are related today in Mr. Kirk's letter, ending with a hint that he will next tell of England. He writes:

W. B. Kirk

"Finse, Norway, July 25, 1923. I don't see how it would be possible for anybody to make such a trip as we are making through Norway and not believe in a creator, not nature, but an all-powerful personal maker of this beautiful earth."

"This panorama of cloud, fjord, waterfall, rushing rivers, trees, flowers, ferns, grass, all are beautiful, nothing homely, how could it be evolved from nothing? Such thoughts as these have filled my mind as we have sped along through sun and mist."

"Every leaf showed design, no two exactly alike. It kept our eyes jumping from the things close by to the mountains and skies above in order not to miss some strange new vista."

We were indeed fortunate in having good weather for the first part of this fjord trip, because the latter part of it has been made in rain, cloud and mist, which has obscured some of the fine sections through which we have passed. However, clouds and rain transform the appearance of nature and add a grandeur by showing a different mood from that which obtains when the skies are clear.

H. Keeps Raining
"As I wrote you, the trip by boat to Sandene on Saturday was made in such rain that a continuance of it would probably have frightened us into postponing our long auto trip to Vadheim Sunday afternoon, and this would have so disarranged our schedule that it would have been very bad."

"This morning, however, was part clear, with no rain, so we started. As soon as we got further into the mountains the rain began again and continued more or less all day."

POLICE HUNTING GIRL MURDERER

Letters Found by Mutilated Corpse of Bride Give Clue to Slayer

DENVER, Aug. 24.—Search for a young man known only by the name of "Jack" who is believed to have committed the most brutal murder in the history of Colorado Springs, is being made today.

Mrs. Elsie Gorgenson Suttle, 17, a bride of a month, was the victim and the only clue a bunch of five letters which lay beneath her crushed and mutilated body when police were called to the scene of the crime.

Early Thursday a young man called at the Suttle home and asked to see the young bride. He was refused admittance. The girl's mother-in-law then left the house for a few minutes. On her return she entered the room occupied by her daughter-in-law. The girl was lying in a pool of blood, across the bed. Her night clothes were torn to shreds and her head, covered by a bloody pillow, had been propped against the wall. According to physicians, she had been struck with a blunt instrument, possibly a hammer. Finger prints were found around her throat and her collar bone had been broken. One blow had cut into the side of her face mangle her eye. Another blow had opened a quarter-inch crack in her skull and hour after hour inflicted gashes in the scalp and crushed one ear.

A love affair is believed to have been the motive for the murder and police are withholding the contents of the letters found. A Spaniard, a former sweetheart, is also being searched for, in connection with the deed.

Riley Lyons, Jr., Breaks Arm Cranking Machine

Riley Lyons, Jr., son of Riley Lyons of 326 North Jackson street, broke an arm about midnight last night while cranking an automobile in Venice. He was brought back to Glendale by A. D. Armer of the local police department, who was visiting at the beach city.

Robert Youngstrom of 101 West Maple street was knocked down shortly after midnight last night by an automobile driven by A. P. Dennis of Los Angeles. He arose uninjured. The accident occurred on Brand boulevard just north of Broadway.

Bumpers interlocked about 2:30 p. m. yesterday on automobiles driven by Julia C. Benton of 708 Orange Grove and Cora E. Wilson of 310 East Lexington drive. The intersection of Central avenue and Hawthorne street was the scene of the collision.

NEW RECORD SET BY AIR MAIL MEN

Four Hours Sheared From Schedule; Five-Day Test at End

INEOLA, N. Y., Aug. 24. Pilot Wesley Smith of the air mail service arrived at Hazelhurst field at 11:14 a. m., Eastern Standard time on the last lap of the relay flight that began at 6 o'clock a. m., Coast time, at San Francisco yesterday. He was 4 hours and 1 minute ahead of the scheduled time.

Pilot Paul F. Collins hopped off at 11:04, eastern standard time, on the last of the series of transcontinental flights by the air mail service.

Smith's flying time was 26 hours and 43 minutes. His flight is the fastest on record and nearly two hours under the postal service's goal of twenty-eight hours from coast to coast.

The flights were to be made on five successive days, but will end with those starting today.

Pilots Continue To Hold Leads

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Air mail pilots in the third day test of the coast to coast continuous schedules continued to hold a lead over the 28 hour time set by the postal service. Pilot Berryson with the eastbound plane which left San Francisco Thursday morning, arrived in Chicago at 3:50 a. m. Central Standard time today and Pilot Wiseman took off for New York via Cleveland at 4:18 a. m. over an hour and a half ahead of time.

The westbound plane was 59 minutes ahead of schedule when it left Chicago last night and was reported making good time westward through Omaha and toward the Rockies.

Dictator of Manchuria 'Cool' Toward Envoys

PEKING, China, Aug. 24.—The reception given the four consuls representing their respective foreign governments by Chang Tso Lin, dictator of the province of Manchuria, was described in dispatches today as "cool."

The foreign government ministers conferred with Chang Tso Lin at Mukden, Manchuria, on the subject of foreign supervision of the Chinese Eastern railway. The dictator of the province of Manchuria clearly indicated his opposition to any foreign interference in the operation of the railroads.

Well Driller Crushed By Big Steel Anchor

Joe Barter of Azusa, one of the team on the S. F. Catey well-drilling rig, No. 4, of Los Angeles, sinking a new water well near the municipal pumping plant, west of San Fernando road, was crushed against the rig at 10 o'clock this morning by a steel anchor weighing approximately a ton.

The injured man was hurried to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, where X-ray photographs are being taken to determine the extent of his injuries, which do not appear fatal, it is reported.

Reason for NO Hard Coal Strike Told by Hammond

By KENNETH CLARK
For International News Service
WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Definite reasons why the administration adheres to the belief that there will be NO strike in the anthracite fields next month were given by John Hays Hammond, chairman of the United States coal commission, in a conference with newspapermen this afternoon.

Hammond said that to strike would be virtual suicide to both operators and miners, because they would suffer heavily in loss of future markets.

U. S. READY TO RECOGNIZE MEXICO NOW

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 24.—The United States is now ready to recognize the Obregon government of Mexico, it was announced officially at the White House this afternoon.

A spokesman for President Coolidge, however, said it would be the middle or latter part of September before diplomatic relations could be resumed between Washington and Mexico City.

The delay in actual resumption of diplomatic relations has been occasioned by the necessity of exchanging notes between the state department and Mexico City regarding the two claims commissions set up under the Warren-Roa accord, it was said. This will be done to clarify the status of the commissions and avoid any possible future differences between the two governments. This was said to be only a question of detail.

TRUTH SERUM THREAT IS ENOUGH

Patient Breaks Silence When Doctors Suggest Jolt of Scopolamin

THREATS of using "truth serum" to a patient whose tests had revealed to be feigning sun-stroke resulted in the apprehension of Charles Albert Sullivan, South Pasadena boy, for whom the police and his parents had been searching two days.

The Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital was the scene early today of the unusual drama in which the well dressed youth, perhaps 22 years of age, was forced to remove his torture mask and tell the attending doctors and nurses that he was all right, but they admitted he was a little wrong.

Deputy Constable Edwin MacCarty of Sunland brought the unknown man into the Glendale police station late last evening, stating that he had been found in the afternoon lying along the road in Haines canyon by passersby. They had taken Sullivan to the Tunjunga emergency hospital where nothing could be learned from him.

Doctors Skeptical
Desk Sergeant J. D. Cole sent the party to the hospital where he was put into a bath. After physicians found him in an apparent state of coma. However, certain indications led them to believe he might be "spoofing" medical science and so the medical men turned "spoofters."

A very faint smile at a doctor's remark gave the first hint the man was feigning suffering from the heat, and when the "truth serum" was suggested, the young fellow said:

Ready to Talk
"Don't do that, I will talk." However, it was necessary for the doctors to question him more than an hour before he revealed his correct name, address and other information necessary.

Only a corn cob and a belt buckle with his father's initials "W A S" and a Harris & Frank trade mark could be found in the man's clothing, according to Mr. MacCarty, who spent hours in searching the supposedly sick or injured man.

The constable on Wednesday night spent hours searching for three people reported dead by a garage mechanic. This mission of mercy also was futile.

"Some job," says "Mac," as he is known among the hill folks.

Two Revolvers Stolen From S. Brand Store

The theft of two guns during the past few days was reported this morning by the Monarch Auto Supply company of 204 South Brand boulevard to the police department. Both are believed by H. M. Butts to have been sneaked out of the store during business hours. One was a "Police Positive Special" Colt .32 bearing the number 260917, and the other was a Smith & Wesson .38, carrying the number 445975.

CHIEF VOLLMER OPENS WAR ON CRIMINALS AND SUSPICIOUS CHARACTERS

More Than Score of Arrests Are Made Today Following Night Of Bold Deeds; Crack Shots Sent After Bandits

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 24.—Armed with new and drastic laws and spurred by the shooting through the back of Patrolman Vernon McGregor after he had been held up by a negro and disarmed, the greatest war ever declared against criminals in Los Angeles was started today by Chief of Police August Vollmer. Squads of "crime crushers," the newly formed organization of trained "shooting" officers today hunted every possible retreat where McGregor's assailant may be in hiding. To cope with the anticipated influx of desperate criminals within the next few weeks, Chief Vollmer today instructed every officer to disarm suspicious characters and arrest them under the new law making it a felony to illegally carry a concealed weapon. Almost a score of suspects are said to have fallen into the trap today.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 24.—After concealing themselves on the roof of a downtown building in South Spring street until midnight, three bandits entered the Bumiller building, bound and gagged Night Watchman Joseph Thomas and then worked leisurely for five and a half hours among various offices and escaped with $25,000 worth of loot. The robbery was the boldest committed in Los Angeles in many months and was staged by three well dressed young men.

Safes in the offices of E. L. Deacon, manufacturing jeweler, and the office of F. A. Perkins & company, another jewelry manufacturing concern, were looted. Another attempt was made to open the safe in the T. Bisbeck postoffice, in an effort to recover $2000 as yet unaccounted for. The officers found $4067 cached in a sugar can at the store late last night after Towne's arrest in Council Bluffs, Iowa, was reported.

When taken into custody Towne is said to have had $1931 in his possession and he is believed to have spent approximately $1000 in making his escape.

The registered package containing the $9000 which Towne is accused of absconding with, was delivered to the local postoffice by the Capital National Bank on the night of July 25. It was addressed to a bank at Courtland, this county. The arrest of Towne in Iowa, yesterday, climaxed a detailed check of his movements extending over the past month.

Alleged Attackers Bank Bandits, Claim

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 24.—Robbery of a Los Angeles bank was believed frustrated today with the arrest by the sheriff's office of Fred Rubio and Roy Lewis as the alleged attackers of Miss Dorothy Smith, pretty Long Beach girl who claims she was attacked at the point of a revolver.

Surprise Friends
Rev. George B. Reaben and Miss Maude McComas surprised everyone by stealing off to Los Angeles and getting married yesterday afternoon, August 23, 1923, at the home of Rev. Turnbull, assistant pastor of the Bethel temple.

It had been announced that they were to be married Sunday morning, August 26, at the close of the services in Bethel temple, but for some reason the couple changed their plans. As vagary is one of Cupid's prerogatives, their many friends simply smiled and wish them all kinds of happiness.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. J. E. McComas of Pomona and the late Senator McComas. The groom's name is widely known in California, the family being early pioneers in the Pomona valley.

Rev. Reaben, who is at present employed at the Piano Exchange, 12 West Broadway, is an evangelist who has recently been on a long series of meetings. He contemplates another evangelistic tour later in the season.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Turney and Ward Turney were present at the home of Rev. Turnbull, Mrs. Turney being a sister of the bride.

At the wedding ceremony, the couple will return and make their home in Glendale.

Nimble Fingers
The all-day meeting of the Nimble Fingers club, auxiliary to the Dames of Veterans, Mary Jane Gillette Tent No. 18, which was held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Susie Peck, 116 East Cypress street, was a delightful midsummer affair.

At noon a chicken dinner was served to the thirty guests presided by the hostess and assistant hostesses, Mrs. Susie Peck, Mrs. Stella Spears, Mrs. Jennie Turner, Mrs. Hattie Tiffany and Mrs. Pearl Moore.

The afternoon was devoted to sewing on aprons and fancywork for the bazaar, which will be held the latter part of September. Mrs. Susie Peck is chairman of this event, and the appointment of chairmen of the various booths will be announced at a later date.

The annual picnic of the Daughters, which was to have been held on September 2, at Brookside park, has been postponed until September 9, on account of so many members planning to be away over Labor Day.

The place of meeting for the next get-together of the Nimble Fingers club will be announced later.

Kitchen Shower
Miss Dorothy Walsh, daughter of Mrs. Ethel D. Walsh of 342 North Kenwood street, who is to become the bride September 22 of John Wiggers, was honoree at two kitchen showers this week with Miss Pearl King of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Lloyd Bennett of 835 East Lomita avenue as hostesses.

The affair at Miss King's home was enjoyed by young women friends of Miss Walsh, who were associated with her in the employ of the Moreland Truck company. Mrs. Bennett invited for the shower yesterday afternoon at her home friends from Inglewood, Los Angeles and Glendale.

Miss Walsh received many useful things for the kitchen of her new home.

The wedding of Miss Walsh and Mr. Wiggers is of much interest. Both young people are employees of the Moreland Truck company. Miss Walsh has been chief of the multipurpose department, while Mr. Wiggers is chief engineer for the company.

For Mrs. Roberts
Mrs. W. H. Roberts of Des Moines, Ia., who has been summer guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Roberts of 617 East Elk street, was complimented on Wednesday night when Mrs. Warren Roberts' parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Archer were hosts at a dinner party at her home, 615 East Elk street.

Mrs. Roberts, who with the Warren Roberts, has just returned from a sojourn at Laguna Beach, is leaving for a visit with her sister at Catalina before returning to her Iowa home.

The Archer guests at dinner were Mrs. W. H. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ferris and sons, Robert and Forrest of El Centro; Mrs. George W. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Peck and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Roberts.

Gives Luncheon
Mrs. Charles Perry of 111 North Louise street was hostess Wednesday at a pleasant three-course luncheon. The setting was artistically arranged in lavender and yellow, favors and decorations carried out in this color combination.

The guests included Mrs. Walter Smith and Mrs. M. J. Ryan of Los Angeles; Mrs. W. J. Manus of Pasadena; Mrs. R. Elwood of Long Beach and the hosts' mother, Mrs. Nellie Hyer of this city.

SEEK REDUCTION
A movement to reduce the number of different sizes of concrete mixers to a practical minimum was taken at the recent joint conference on equipment at Chicago.

Surprise Friends
Rev. George B. Reaben and Miss Maude McComas surprised everyone by stealing off to Los Angeles and getting married yesterday afternoon, August 23, 1923, at the home of Rev. Turnbull, assistant pastor of the Bethel temple.

It had been announced that they were to be married Sunday morning, August 26, at the close of the services in Bethel temple, but for some reason the couple changed their plans. As vagary is one of Cupid's prerogatives, their many friends simply smiled and wish them all kinds of happiness.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. J. E. McComas of Pomona and the late Senator McComas. The groom's name is widely known in California, the family being early pioneers in the Pomona valley.

Rev. Reaben, who is at present employed at the Piano Exchange, 12 West Broadway, is an evangelist who has recently been on a long series of meetings. He contemplates another evangelistic tour later in the season.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Turney and Ward Turney were present at the home of Rev. Turnbull, Mrs. Turney being a sister of the bride.

At the wedding ceremony, the couple will return and make their home in Glendale.

Nimble Fingers
The all-day meeting of the Nimble Fingers club, auxiliary to the Dames of Veterans, Mary Jane Gillette Tent No. 18, which was held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Susie Peck, 116 East Cypress street, was a delightful midsummer affair.

At noon a chicken dinner was served to the thirty guests presided by the hostess and assistant hostesses, Mrs. Susie Peck, Mrs. Stella Spears, Mrs. Jennie Turner, Mrs. Hattie Tiffany and Mrs. Pearl Moore.

The afternoon was devoted to sewing on aprons and fancywork for the bazaar, which will be held the latter part of September. Mrs. Susie Peck is chairman of this event, and the appointment of chairmen of the various booths will be announced at a later date.

The annual picnic of the Daughters, which was to have been held on September 2, at Brookside park, has been postponed until September 9, on account of so many members planning to be away over Labor Day.

The place of meeting for the next get-together of the Nimble Fingers club will be announced later.

Kitchen Shower
Miss Dorothy Walsh, daughter of Mrs. Ethel D. Walsh of 342 North Kenwood street, who is to become the bride September 22 of John Wiggers, was honoree at two kitchen showers this week with Miss Pearl King of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Lloyd Bennett of 835 East Lomita avenue as hostesses.

The affair at Miss King's home was enjoyed by young women friends of Miss Walsh, who were associated with her in the employ of the Moreland Truck company. Mrs. Bennett invited for the shower yesterday afternoon at her home friends from Inglewood, Los Angeles and Glendale.

Miss Walsh received many useful things for the kitchen of her new home.

The wedding of Miss Walsh and Mr. Wiggers is of much interest. Both young people are employees of the Moreland Truck company. Miss Walsh has been chief of the multipurpose department, while Mr. Wiggers is chief engineer for the company.

For Mrs. Roberts
Mrs. W. H. Roberts of Des Moines, Ia., who has been summer guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Roberts of 617 East Elk street, was complimented on Wednesday night when Mrs. Warren Roberts' parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W.B.Kirk's Arrival In England Told In Letters Today; Beauty Of Norway Fjords Extolled or less all the way. The auto top had to be raised, which shut out part of our view. The scenery was similar to what we had seen through, mountain and river valley, with high waters and waterfalls. We have never been out of sight of snow-clad mountains since we left Trondhjem.

"Nearly all of them have snow. I believe the highest peak in Norway is only about 7500 feet, but nearly all of them are of about a uniform height of 3000 to 5000 feet, with few foothills. Lakes alternate with the fjords, and sometimes you can't tell one from the other. The woods are so water-soaked as we passed along that the cattle could hardly get through some of the bogs.

"We were remarking that if our old friends on their ranch in San Diego county could have this rain and consequent vegetation, what a glorious ranch they could have. But, ah! they couldn't have the climate if they had this.

"Make Fast Time
"These roads in Norway are very fine, and our driver made fast time, so we had an hour and a half at our dinner station, and later on another hour at a station, where we were able to warm up. The wife was well wrapped, but it was so cold and damp that I feared for her, but she came through in fine shape.

"We had a good supper at Vadheim, and immediately took a large fjord steamer for Gudrun, having bed, breakfast and dinner aboard, and arriving in Gudrun at 4:30 p. m. We were not up when the boat touched at Vadheim at 7 a. m., which is a favorite resort with the British and where the former kaiser used to like to stop.

"This is the Sogne fjord, regarded, with the Hardanger, as the most beautiful of the fjords. The only railroad in western Norway is the through one between Christiania and Bergen, so these boats do all the passenger and freight business up these fjords, stopping at every little hamlet and going in and out of the branches not up when the main fjord. Time is an object with the Scandinavians. They don't hurry, and you can't make 'em.

"See Beautiful Rainbow
"We saw a wonderful rainbow in the fjord. It was smaller, or shorter, than ours, beginning and ending in the water, and was extremely brilliant. Another very peculiar thing we saw on the road to Vadheim. A stream from the mountain emptied into the rushing river, and as the latter was unusually high, this water was thrown out of banks in such a way that it flowed down beside the water in the river, but on a higher level, giving the impression that there were three levels of water in the same stream. It continued so for half a mile or more, and was most peculiar.

"The views in the Sogne fjord were similar to what we had seen, until we neared the end, at Gudrun, when it narrowed, and perpendicular cliffs on both sides, with many waterfalls, gave it a weird, sinister appearance.

"The auto ride from there to Stohheim was amid this same grand scenery. The wooded mountains had given way to rocky ones, and the big boulders filling the valley showed what nature had done. This narrow valley brought us to some of the finest falls we had seen, and abruptly stopped.

"Our itinerary read 'Auto to Stohheim; walk up the hill.' So we were totally unprepared for a climb of a mile or more with an ascent of 1300 to 1500 feet. Only the magnificent scenery prevented us from making a big kick, and there were lots of us, some English. I sent down a boy and cart from the hotel for the wife, and she finally arrived.

"The view from this hotel is one of the most wonderful in Norway. The valley through which we had come, with its river, looking like a little silver band, hemmed in by those perpendicular mountains, one of which has a perfectly symmetrical dome, and with the sound of two waterfalls in the ears, is a sight to be remembered.

"The hotel was large, but not unusually good, and, as there were no Americans there, we were not sorry to leave by auto Tuesday morning for Voss on the through railroad, whence we took train here. It was a three hours' run back toward Christiania, and our director sent us here in order to give us a change of view, and a touch of another zone.

"Folks, did you ever spend a day and night in midsummer right in the heart of winter? I mean a real winter, such as most of you grew up in. Well, that is our experience here. The altitude is not very great here, I don't think over 4000 feet, but the lake on which this hotel is situated is a mass of ice and snow. Big drifts are lying around close to the building, and on the peaks nearby it is a solid mass and very deep. It never melts entirely, and in this late season very little of it will melt at all.

"The sun shone for a little while after we arrived, but soon it began to rain. It is so wintry that we can't get out at all, though our stay here is for twenty-seven hours.

"Heat Indispensable
"My window opened out onto the snow-covered lake, and to view it in the twilight darkness, as I went to bed, was unique. The hotel is one of the best we have had, and the steam and electric heat we have are indispensable. Would you believe that they have electric heating stoves in this country? They are very odd, can't describe them.

"Before leaving Norway I must not forget to tell you about the meals at the hotels. Breakfast (frokost) is served at 8:30 to 10:30; 'midday,' or dinner, at 2 and 'afternoon,' or supper, at 5 p. m. on 10 or 12. For breakfast usually you have a boiled egg and coffee with cold bread on the table. On a large table at the side are crackers, cold ham, tongue and other salted and dried meats and fish, cheeses, marmalade and jam. After you have finished your egg you take your plate and go over to this table and select what you want from it.

"The dinner consists of the usual soup, fish, meat, and a dessert, with potatoes and gravy passed around. The supper is usually one fish or meat, and you then go over to the big table and fill up as at breakfast. However, they usually have some vinegared cucumbers and perhaps some prunes in addition.

"The spectacle of a big lot of well dressed people leaving their seats in the midst of a meal and crowding about a table and help to Vadheim. A stream from the mountain emptied into the rushing river, and as the latter was unusually high, this water was thrown out of banks in such a way that it flowed down beside the water in the river, but on a higher level, giving the impression that there were three levels of water in the same stream. It continued so for half a mile or more, and was most peculiar.

"The views in the Sogne fjord were similar to what we had seen, until we neared the end, at Gudrun, when it narrowed, and perpendicular cliffs on both sides, with many waterfalls, gave it a weird, sinister appearance.

ELKS CIRCUS TO BE RIOT OF FUN

Two-Day Frolic Will Open at 8 o'Clock Tonight in Lodge Clubhouse

Promptly at 8 o'clock tonight the big, two-day indoor circus that is being staged by the Elks' lodge in the clubhouse on East Colorado street will get under way and the members and visitors will begin to mill around and take in all the attractions that have been booked for the event, which has been organized to raise funds to defray the expenses of the Elks' band on its proposed trip to the annual state convention at Eureka next month.

It is true that some of the features of a regular circus will be missing. There will not be any elephants, the lady bareback riders will be barred, and the mile-long street parade has been omitted on this occasion, even though it is regarded as an integral part of any circus; but there will be pink lemonade, there will be sideshows, and there will be dozens of other attractions, some of which are new to the Elks' lodge.

Harry McCartney, who is in charge of the boxing bouts, will announce his selections for tomorrow night's show in time for the fight fans to look over the entries and see the class of scrappers he has secured for the grand finale of the circus, and he assures the sports that they will see a lot of action crowded into the sixteen rounds that will be staged tomorrow night.

Atty. and Mrs. McBryde Go to Legion Conclave

Attorney and Mrs. James P. McBryde of 108 East California avenue left this morning by automobile for Eureka. Mr. McBryde of 111 East Broadway will be a delegate to the annual state convention of the American Legion. This will be in session the first three days of next week. A daylight ride through the big tree region is being anticipated. San Francisco will be reached tomorrow.

SEEKING MORE PAY
CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Application for an increase in pay for assistant chief dispatchers and truck dispatchers on the Chicago Great Western railroad was filed with the United States Railroad Labor Board here.

waterfalls, lakes and woods, still in clouds and scattering rain, we motored to the railroad at Tregereid, from Nordheimsund, and an hour's ride brought us to Bergen, which is the second city of Norway and the chief port of the west coast.

"It is well located and there are a number of interesting things to see there, but as we had to leave at noon today for England, we could give it little attention. It is so located that it rains practically every day in the year. They say that the horses there are frightened at a pedestrian not carrying an umbrella.

"This boat is about as large as the one that brought us from America. We are due in Newcastle about 5 p. m. tomorrow. "In our travels I am not studying social or economic questions particularly, but will give you a few hints along these lines as I pick them up. The Norwegians are a very patriotic people. Their flag is waving from many farm houses and is displayed on every hotel table. At present poor crop seasons and high taxes make conditions pretty hard. Commodities are high in proportion to wages.

"Bricklayers in cities get about $3.75 a day for ten hours' work, and in small towns about half of that. A captain on a fjord steamer told me that he had lived in America and received $200 to $250 a month as mate on a vessel, whereas, in Norway, he is receiving about that many kroner, about one-sixth as much, and he works from thirteen to sixteen hours a day. He is staying in Norway, for a while, for family reasons.

"To sum up, Norway is undoubtedly one of the most beautiful countries in the world, one outstanding reason being the fact of so scant a population in a country so large that the hand of man is not able to mar its natural scenery. There is little game in the country. I haven't seen even a rabbit, and magpies are about the only birds we have noticed.

"I don't believe that fresh water fishing is anything great, so that natural scenery is about the only attraction for the tourist. Nowhere else, however, can this be viewed in such abundance and variety, with so much delight. The season being so short and the weather so uncertain, even in the two months when it is supposed to be good, I doubt if it will ever be a great tourist country, such as Switzerland.

"No one, however, who glories in the wilds of nature, which includes everything, mountains, valleys, sea, rivers, waterfalls, lakes, woods, flowers, ferns, and in combination of seasons, spring, summer and winter, such as I have tried to describe to you. Where can it be equalled? Its people have been hospitable, and have treated us well, so we bid a fond adieu to Norway.

NEWCASTLE-UPON-TYNE, July 23.—Here we are in 'Merrie England.' I trust it may prove to be merrier to me than the trip across to it from Norway. Nuff sed!

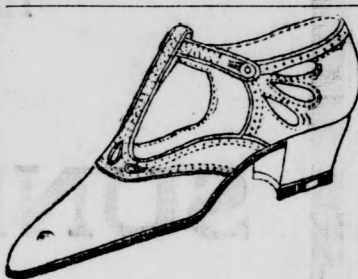

(Mr. Kirk's next letter will tell of travels in England.)

East Knows Glendale
"Wherever we went, particularly in the larger cities, if we parked for ten minutes and people had a chance to see our 'Glendale' plates, front and rear under the license, we were sure to be approached familiarly, and asked to give so-and-so's regards to so-and-so, upon our return back, as they live in Glendale.

"Once an ice-man wanted us to remember him to a brother-in-law who lives in this city. That was in Cleveland, I think. It was the same everywhere. One night, when we pulled in at the Old Faithful camp grounds in Yellowstone park, we found that the car to the rear of us and the one on our right were both going to Glendale, bringing whole families of new residents.

"It was really amazing. Everywhere we went people knew Glendale and expressed the greatest interest in it. From our experience, I predict that nothing can stop this city from growing to 60,000 or 75,000 population within a short time.

Cost of Living Low
"Of course, we encountered all sorts of roads—good, bad and indifferent—but we thoroughly enjoyed every moment of the trip. We had more tire trouble than we would have had if we had put on new tires all around before starting out, which is my advice for others contemplating such a trip.

"Our average expenses for a party of four adults, camping in good weather, and occasionally putting up over night at a hotel, were $7 per day, which includes the price of two new tires. Two people could undoubtedly make the same trip for under $5 a day. "Of all the scenery we struck in the United States the most beautiful, we thought, was that in the White mountains of New Hampshire. The next most beau-

Miss Smith is said to have identified Rubio as one of her attackers by the careful manner in which he held one of his arms.

More Than $20,000 Lost in Mail Robbery

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 24.—Loot obtained by bandits who early Tuesday held up a Katy passenger train near Okesa, Okla., escaping with registered mail totals approximately $20,500, it was announced here by L. A. Johnson, chief postoffice inspector of this division.

"We have checked up and found that approximately $20,000 in registered Liberty bonds were taken in addition to the $500 in currency," Johnson said.

A complete check of the loss, which is necessarily slow, is being made. It may reveal an even greater loss in currency, Johnson said.

Famous Yale Bar Is Closed by Dry Laws

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 24.—The old oaken bucket's gone, the coconut ladle hangs on the wall, a mute trophy of old days, and the copper-covered sink is in the hands of a junkman. That's the present-day tale of "Tut's," since 1848 a favorite haunt of Yale student and graduate, a place known wherever Yale men are the world around.

When the flat went forth from the authorities that all bars and every semblance of a bar must be wiped out of New Haven, Tut's was one of the first to obey the law and started dismantling. Fortunately the college was not in session, else the shedding of tears had been unanimous. A modest cash-and-carry grocery now occupies the old-time haunt of famous men, and all over the earth men will be saying presently, "Tut's is gone."

Glendale 90JOHNSON FIGHTING
HOOVER LEADERSCharges Personal Mail Used
To Defeat His Candidacy
In 1924 CampaignBy WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—A long smoldering feud between Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, and Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, leaped today into open warfare, with prospects of developing a wide chasm within the Republican party. Recalling the Republican defeats, the famous Taft-Roosevelt and Johnson-Hughes feuds, party leaders fear the break will have its effect on the next election.

Greater significance is attached to the quarrel because both Johnson and Hoover have been mentioned as potential Republican nominees in 1924.

The open break came when Johnson issued a statement charging that followers of Hoover in California had taken personal mail from one of his friends to use against him politically. Johnson charged one letter so obtained contained a statement he wrote last May, in which he said he would not be a candidate for president in 1924. This statement has now handicapped the Senator's friends who have launched a drive for him.

While Johnson would not add to the statement, Secretary Hoover also remained silent. Shown a copy of Johnson's charges, the Secretary said he had no reply to make "at this time."

Though both are Republicans, Hoover and Johnson are as far apart politically as the poles. Johnson is a progressive and Hoover a conservative. Johnson is a leader of the Senate "irreconcilables," and Hoover is a leader of the Republican League of Nations' advocates. Johnson opposes the World Court plan; Hoover helped to write it.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The stock market closed irregularly today. Reduction of the dividend rate by the Ohio Oil company, a Standard Oil subsidiary, had a depressing effect on oil stocks in the final hour. This spread to other sections of the industrial list. The rails, however, displayed a good tone.

California Petroleum and Pan-American yielding fractionally. Baldwin dropped 1/4 to 127 1/4, and Steel common shaded off to 91 1/4. Famous Players yielded nearly 1 point to 70 1/4. Gulf States Steel also fell nearly 1 point to 81 1/2. Erie was in good demand, selling up 1 1/2 to 16. Union Pacific improved 1/2 to 130, and Southern Pacific 1/2 to 87 1/2.

12-YEAR-OLD BOY
RIVERSIDE HERODrowns in Attempt to Save
Mother of Babe He Rescued From Lake

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 24.—Ronald Huber, 12, though dead, was Riverside's hero today. After saving 7-months-old Jimmy Clark Burton young Huber made a desperate effort to save Mrs. Robert Burton, 17-year-old mother of the baby, but failed and with the young mother, went to a watery grave in Lake Mocking Bird near here late yesterday. Mary Roberts, 12, sister of Mrs. Burton was also drowned in trying to save her sister.

Mrs. Burton, with her young son and sister, had gone to Lake Mocking Bird for a picnic and were wading in a shallow irrigation ditch that empties into the lake. Suddenly an unexpected rush of water carried the little youngster out into the deep water. Mrs. Burton rushed after him, but in vain.

Huber, who was sitting on the edge of the lake, saw the incident and plunged in after the baby, reappearing a few seconds later with the infant in his arms. He took the youngster to safety and then started to save the mother. By this time Miss Roberts had also gone to assist her sister, but she was stricken with cramps and sank. Huber finally reached Mrs. Burton but she clung to him and they were drowned together.

The bodies of the two girls were recovered by dragging the lake with hooks but search for Huber's body continued today.

Wilson and Burton Is
New Realty Concern

L. H. Wilson and W. T. Burton, well-known local realty dealers, have joined forces under the firm name of Wilson & Burton and have opened an office at the corner of South Central avenue and San Fernando Road. They also opened an office in Hollywood a few days ago and have already transacted an immense volume of business in the film city.

Mr. Wilson will continue to maintain and operate his own organization at 1034 South San Fernando Road, and Mr. Burton will also retain his office at 200 1/2 West Broadway, where he carries on business under the name of the Burton Realty Co.

Railroad Executive
Sells Glendale Home

L. C. Wolfe, freight traffic manager of the Union Pacific Railway Company, has sold his home at 535 Spencer place, Glendale, to Craig E. Stumpf of the realty firm of Stumpf & Caldwell, 105 South Central avenue, who will move his family there about September 1. Mr. Wolfe and his wife are now on a motor trip north as far as Lodi, Calif., where he owns property taken as part payment from Mr. Stumpf on above transaction.

COUGH UP, SAYS
INCOME TAX MANDeduction of Premiums of Insurance for Loans
Not Permissible

Many Glendale business firms and individuals, who have taken deductions upon their income returns for amounts paid for premiums on insurance which was taken out to secure loans, will be politely notified by Collector Goodcell to call at the internal revenue bureau in Los Angeles and pay tax on the amounts erroneously deducted.

Checking up the 1922 returns indicates that many business men have made their returns under the impression that the item of insurance was a legal deduction. Collector Goodcell explained that under the internal revenue laws, where insurance is taken out to secure a loan, the deduction of the premium paid is not permissible, for the reason that the insured is an indirect beneficiary under the policy.

Ruling On Losses

Where it has been established by evidence that a taxpayer purchased residential property for the purpose of its subsequent sale for profit, he may deduct a loss from the sale, even though he occupied the property as a residence during a part of the time from the date of purchase to the date of sale, according to an income tax ruling of the committee of appeals and review received yesterday from Washington by Collector Rex Goodcell.

The decision, which is an important one, reversed the ruling of the income tax unit which had disallowed the loss.

Controller to Refuse
County Speed Cop Pay

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 24.—Paving the way for court action to test the validity of that portion of the state motor vehicle law referring to the appointment of county traffic officers, State Controller Ray L. Riley announced today that he would refuse the salaries of county traffic officers appointed under the provisions of the new act.

Riley's refusal to pay the salaries is based on the contention that no valid appropriation was made by the legislature to cover the salaries. An appropriation must be made for the specific amount and for the specific purpose the controller asserted.

Building to Be Set Back, Agreement

The Central Avenue Improvement association, through its president, Charles B. Guthrie, of 110 West Broadway, has secured the agreement of W. F. Tower to set back ten feet from the property line his building now under construction at 210 South Central avenue, despite the fact that the foundation is already in, which indicates that improvements along this main thoroughfare are scheduled for no distant date.

QUEZON ACCUSES
GOV. GEN. WOOD OF PRODUCING ROW'Usurpation and Imperialism' Are Terms Hurlled by Filipino Leader

MANILA, Aug. 24.—Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate, in his capacity as a member of the board of control today addressed a letter to the directors of the Philippine National Bank in which he accuses Governor General Leonard Wood with having made public the governor's suppressed message to the legislature for no other purpose than "to produce a sensation."

This sensation, according to Quezon, was intended by Governor General Wood to "cause a reversion of public opinion and to start a serious national conflict among the Philippine people."

Furthermore, Quezon alleges, the governor general's policy of "usurpation and imperialism" is also intended to place Mr. Fernandez, a high official of the Philippine National Bank, in "a false position with the intention of discrediting him in the present political campaign."

Quezon charges that Wood withheld public action on the reports of the condition of the bank made by Messrs. Wilson and Coates, the former an ex-manager of the institution and the latter a bank expert.

The Philippine leader calls for Governor Wood to make these reports public "so that the country may see who was really benefited by the bank and who are still benefiting from it."

Quezon concludes his letter with the charge that Wood is also plotting with members of the Democratic party, which political organization is mild in its expression for independence of the Philippine Islands from the United States.

VALLEY PRINTERS
HEAR TRADE TALKFranklin Club Dines at Glen Inn; Discuss Problems
Of Business

The regular bi-weekly meeting of the Franklin Printers' Club of the San Fernando Valley was held last night in the Glen Inn, 152 South Brand, all of the printing establishments in the valley being represented, with two exceptions, and with the Glendale printing shops turning out 100 per cent.

The principal speaker of the evening was William C. Peck, superintendent of printing in the Star-News Publishing company of Pasadena, who delivered an illuminating address on the methods to be used in figuring printing costs and the need for a uniform system to be followed by all members of the craft.

Mr. Peck dealt with the imperative necessity for maintaining the highest possible quality in the work that is turned out by the firms that are members of the organization; and one feature that he discussed at length, the necessity for harmony and balance in the composition of work done by printing establishments, and insistence on careful and accurate presswork, met with the whole-hearted approval of his audience. Mr. Peck was introduced by Field Secretary Edward Pickering, R. F. Adams, president of the club, occupied the chair.

Membership Grows
With the admission of four new members last night the roll of the association now carries the names of representatives of practically every firm in the San Fernando Valley. The new members admitted last night were Harry Kline, Burbank Review, Burbank; Clinton Hugo, 536 East Elk, Glendale; F. J. Woollard, 121 South Central avenue, Glendale; and Paul E. Stillman, Stillman Printing Co., 142 South Maryland.

It was voted to send a bouquet of flowers to Harry L. Sinclair, of the Sinclair Printing Co., Burbank, to show that the members of the club sympathized with him in his illness that is preventing him from attending the meetings.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the Sunset Canyon Country club on the night of Thursday, September 13, when a special program will be presented.

Among the guests at the dinner were representatives of the leading ink and paper houses of the Southland.

Secretary Victor M. Bernard announces, for the benefit of those members who may be unable to attend any of the meetings of the club, that the minutes of all meetings are open for inspection by the members at all times at his office, 106 South Maryland avenue.

FAME OF GLENDALE SANITARIUM TOLD

Patients Coming Here From All Parts of World
Register Shows

The Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, in its work of treating those who are suffering from various kinds of human ills, and because of the fact that the men at the head of it have at all times kept abreast of the march of medical science, has conferred a fame on the institution and on Glendale that has spread to all quarters of the world.

A survey of the register at the sanitarium shows that patients have come here from all parts of the United States and from many foreign countries to undergo the curative treatment that is administered here, and this fact has had the inevitable result of bringing the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital to the knowledge of thousands of people in widely scattered portions of the globe.

Similar institutions, owned and directed by the Seventh-day Adventists, are located in many places in the United States, where the same high quality of medical and surgical treatment can be secured, but records show that the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, by reason of its superior location and its proven success in the treatment of difficult cases, draws more than its proportion of such cases from the United States and from the foreign countries that send their patients here.

Object of Building
What this influx of patients means to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital and its future success can be readily understood, and it has been with the sole object of meeting the increased demands that are being made on it by patients from every section of the country that the erection of the new sanitarium was decided upon by the men at the head of the institution, who have realized that the

Turkey Suffers Most In Swapping Citizens

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 24.—The exchange of population between Greece and Turkey—one of the sternest measures for preserving peace ever decided upon by two nations—is now under way. The Turkish commission has asked the national assembly at Ankara for ten million Turkish pounds to expend in this work, but even with this sum forthcoming the Turks are bound to suffer far more than the Greeks because relief societies are aiding the latter. Greece also has obtained a loan through the League of Nations. The returning Turks who are entirely without means are being allotted to villages, decided upon by the commission, which is distributing them proportionately all over Turkey. Housing conditions and unemployment are appalling. One can imagine the acuteness of the situation next winter when it is considered that 200,000 Turks will return from Thrace alone. All empty houses have been requisitioned, but these are vastly inadequate.

The government cannot begin to take care of the orphans. Turkey's splendid peace found her nation in rags.

present establishment on East Broadway has become inadequate to handle the number of cases that are constantly seeking admission here.

Realization of the influence that the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital has exercised in the past and that it will continue to exert in the future has prompted many Glendale business men to associate themselves with the institution and to aid in every possible way to place it in a position where its sphere of usefulness may be enlarged to meet the demands that are being made on it.

Unique Dwelling to Mark Historic Site

BELLAIRE, Ohio, Aug. 24.—Plans for a unique dwelling to be erected on the cliff above the national road at what is known as McCulloch's Leap, in Wheeling, W. Va., are being drawn by J. R. Anderson, local architect. At the summit of the national road's route over Wheeling Hill, toward Washington, Pa., is a steep declivity extending several hundred feet to Wheeling creek shore. On the opposite side of the road is a cliff mounting still higher. On the solid rock, on the hillside, the house is to be built. It will have two towers, resembling an English castle. There will be two apartments on the top floor and one on the lower. The house will be visible down the Ohio River valley for, perhaps, a dozen miles.

The site of the proposed dwelling, history books relate, has been made famous because a Major McCulloch, a pioneer soldier, rode his horse over the steep hillside while escaping from Indians.

Divorce Declining Says Chicago Jurist

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—The divorce "evil" is on the decline, according to Judge Walter P. Steffen, of the Court of Domestic Relations of Chicago. He accounts for its declining by saying that young people in this country, as in others, are getting over the mania for hasty marriages. The mania reached its zenith during the World War, he explained, when quite a number of young women married a "uniform" rather than the man inside it, only to discover, subsequently, that her husband, attired in "civies," did not please her.

Judge Steffen also reiterated, and that quite emphatically, an old maxim, to wit: "There are few divorces where the tying of the nuptial knot has been preceded by a prolonged and genuine courtship."

PLANS OFFERED HOME BUILDERS

Independent Lumber Co.
Has Complete Service
for Its Patrons

An efficient and economical plan service has been inaugurated by the Independent Lumber Company, 522 North San Fernando road, according to Edwin F. Heisser, secretary-manager.

Between 150 and 200 separate plans have been worked out and assembled in books, according to the last detail, Mr. Heisser states, and the offices are being enlarged to put in a complete planning room, where these books will be at the disposal of all who contemplate building homes.

Each plan contains the following units: Photograph of an actual house built according to the specific plan, small floor diagram, blue prints and specifications, which latter include separate pages devoted to foundation plans, floor plans, front and side and rear elevations, construction details, built-in details, complete list of materials, garage plans, and a written specification sheet, detailed to the last nail.

They Solve Problem
"These plans solve the building problem for the novice," says Mr. Heisser. "By dealing through the Independent Lumber Company, with a set of these plans, which include a very wide range of attractive, practical and artistic homes of every type, the prospective home-owner can know in advance, with no chance of error, just what the completed structure will cost."

"These plans are drawn up by a local architect, who has had many years' experience and has designed scores of the finest homes in Southern California. He knows the type of construction needed here and is entirely out of the class of certain plan services furnished from the east, middle-west and north."

"By using the plans furnished by our company, the builder knows he is actually getting a practical home, one that has already been built and is proven. And he knows he is getting a proven, accurate material list. We can save the builder hundreds of dollars that he never before realized could be saved, dollars that slip away in costly fees and costlier mistakes caused by improper specifications and faulty estimates of requisite materials."

"If anyone wishes to clear up a lot of hazy ideas about building, we invite him or her to visit the Independent Lumber Company's planning room at 522 North San Fernando road and get straightened out free of cost. Building should not be mysterious—and we have set about to de-mystify it."

Adams street, all within the city of Glendale," which was read and laid on the table.

Resolutions Adopted
Councilman Horn introduced a resolution entitled, "A resolution of the Council of the city of Glendale adopting certain plans, plans and diagrams on file in the office of the city clerk of the city of Glendale," for the improvement of Concord street, diagrams exhibiting Monterey Road, Ruben-ta avenue and Garfield avenue, and showing land to be condemned for the opening and laying out of Harvard street, which was read, and on his motion, seconded by Councilman Horn, said resolution was passed.

Councilman Davis introduced a resolution entitled, "A resolution of the Council of the city of Glendale adopting certain plans and diagrams on file in the office of the city clerk of the city of Glendale," for the improvement of Railroad street, which was read and on his motion seconded by Councilman Horn, the same was numbered resolution No. 2075 and passed.

Councilman Davis introduced a resolution entitled, "A resolution of the council of the city of Glendale declaring its intention of improving Railroad street and certain streets intersecting or terminating therewith, in the city of Glendale, and describing the district to be assessed to pay the costs and expenses of said improvement, and providing bonds for the payment of same," which was read, and on his motion seconded by Councilman Horn, the same was numbered Resolution No. 2076 and passed.

Councilman Horn introduced a Resolution entitled, "A resolution of the council of the city of Glendale declaring its intention to improve portions of Concord street, Patterson avenue, Fairmont avenue and Pioneer Drive, and of certain streets and alleys intersecting or terminating therewith, in the city of Glendale, and describing the district to be assessed to pay the costs and expenses of said improvement, and providing bonds for the payment of same," which was read, and on his motion seconded by Councilman Horn, said resolution was numbered Resolution No. 2077 and passed.

City engineer reported the bid of E. L. Fleming as the lowest responsible bidder for the improvement of a portion of Sycamore Canyon road. Councilman Davis introduced a resolution entitled, "Resolution of award of contract, awarding contract for the improvement of a portion of Sycamore Canyon road and of certain streets intersecting and terminating therewith, in the city of Glendale, to E. L. Fleming, which was read, and on his motion, seconded by Councilman Horn, the same was numbered Resolution No. 2078 and passed.

Deeds Accepted
On motion of Councilman Horn, seconded by Councilman Hall, the grant deed of J. C. Person and Mary D. Person, his wife; George L. Person and Violet C. N. Person, his wife; Kate Shephardson-Black, a widow, the registered owners, to the city of Glendale dated August 16, 1923, was accepted and clerk directed to record same.

Wants Cremation to Be Made Attractive

PARIS, Aug. 24.—M. Loyal, member of the Paris city council, wants to make cremation ceremonies in Pere Lachaise cemetery more attractive.

The waiting room of the incinerator is too bare, cold, damp and disagreeable, Loyal said in outlining to the council a proposition to heat the room, properly furnish it and provide free music for all cremation ceremonies.

Loyal's chief argument was that the more attractive cremation exercises were made the more valuable room would be saved in Paris cemeteries. Opponents pointed out that cremation is forbidden by the Catholic church, therefore it would be limited to French and foreign Protestants in Paris, and the expense would be unwarranted.

Sheet isinglass is obtained from the sturgeon.

seconded by Councilman Hall, the Grant Deed of Citizens Trust and Savings Bank, a corporation, to City of Glendale, dated July 25, 1923, was accepted and Clerk directed to record same.

On motion of Councilman Horn, seconded by Councilman Hall, Grant Deed of Chester F. Johns and Magdalene Johns, his wife; J. C. Woods and Effa A. Woods, his wife, to City of Glendale, dated August 18, 1923, was accepted and Clerk directed to record same.

On motion of Councilman Hall, seconded by Councilman Horn, Grant Deed of Albert Weber and Eliza Weber, his wife, to City of Glendale, dated August 13, 1923, was accepted and Clerk directed to record same.

Police Claim Hoboes Are Scarce Nowadays

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Another great American tradition has passed away.

With the friendly corner bartender, the old oaken bucket and the man who raised a family of ten on $15 a week, the leisurely hobo has gone into discard.

So claims Deputy Police Chief George Peacock, who, as head of the detective bureau and chief officer of police court for a generation, ought to be in a position to know. He says: "They used to be a daily sight. We did not have four or five in court on one charge or another. Today the hobo is as scarce as hens' teeth."

"I think many of them have found it easier to make an honest living these days than to go from house to house and city to city to live on the charity of their more ambitious fellow men."

Sends Money to Pay For Stolen Gloves

ELYRIA, Ohio, Aug. 24.—"The Lord has taught me that I owe you, as I was in your store one time, several years ago, and picked up a pair of gloves and did not pay for them." This statement is contained in a letter received by the proprietors of the Elyria Dry Goods store, signed by a woman giving the name of Mrs. C. Davis. She enclosed a money order for $2. The writer lives in a distant city, the location of which was not disclosed by the store's proprietors.

THE GLENDALE
"Masters of Men," a Vitaphone story of the sea, based on a novel by that great American writer, Morgan Robertson, is the feature at the Glendale Theatre today. In the well-balanced cast that Director David Smith has assembled, one will find Earle Williams, Cullen Landis, Alice Calhoun and Wanda Hawley.

The story has been done in a big way and should be received in a big way. It contains unlimited quantities of realistic appeal and offers a variety of thrills, action and punch, being flavored with a definite patriotic atmosphere.

"Masters of Men" tells a realistic story of a man accused of theft by the brother of the girl he loved. To save her from humiliation, he accepts the blame and joins the Navy. In the end, after some fighting at Santiago harbor, during 1898, all ends happily, and Dick comes home to claim his sweetheart.

The man we are looking for is looking for us, too; it is just a question of getting his attention. The proposition we have to offer is only to people who are in a position to command big money; who can make a cash down payment of $200,000.00, on a subdivision property comprising some 15,000 acres, lying within 1/2 mile of the city boundary line of Los Angeles, and within about the same distance from oil wells drilling. The possibilities of this proposition are tremendous and too numerous to go into detail here—but all the data may be obtained at our office by persons capable of handling and financing. The price per acre on this is so insignificant, as compared with the possibilities of subdividing and reselling, that we do not care to advertise it. You who are interested please call at our office and we will be pleased to go into detail.

COMBINES COURT AND APARTMENT

A. S. Chase Builds Unusual Residential Income Property on Columbus

Concrete foundations are now hardening at 615 and 617 South Columbus avenue for the $35,000 five-unit court which is being erected by Albert S. Chase.

The site has a frontage of eighty feet on the west side of Columbus avenue and a depth of 206 feet. Most of it will be utilized by the new buildings which will be built about an open court. The two flanking buildings will be one story in height and each will contain four apartments. The building in the rear, which will be two stories in height, will contain four apartments. Altogether there will be twelve four-room apartments.

Construction will follow Spanish architecture. Material used will be stucco over frame. The roof will be of tile. Plans provide for refrigerators in addition to cooling closets in each kitchen. (Continued on page 5)

Tuesday Afternoon Club's Picnic Of 20 Years Ago Recalled By Old Timer

By OLD TIMER

WHILE reminiscences are in order, a comparison between the celebration of the close of the Tuesday Afternoon club of the present year and one nearly two decades ago, might not be uninteresting. Not one of those years in the very beginning of the club's history, which has been so graphically related in recent publications of The Glendale Evening News, but a little later, when the club had sponsored a lecture course, inaugurated the state traveling library and promoted a "clean up day" and had a membership commensurate with the town's population.

The close of the club year last June was marked by a luncheon unsurpassed in its appointments, in surroundings which in magnificence more than realized their wildest dreams. At the honor table sat the president with her officers and board of directors, the mayor of the city, the past presidents, representatives of the metropolitan and local press, and guests from the district and state federations with which the club is affiliated. At the banquet tables were seated 500 of the club members. Felicitations were offered. There was music, flowers and laughter. A splendid program followed in the beautiful auditorium.

In comparison to all this, memory recalled another day at the close of a club year.

ROTARIANS DINE AT J. E. PHILLIPS'

Music and Reading Enjoyed; Chicken Dinner Served By Member's Wife

Members of the Glendale Rotary club were guests yesterday noon of Rotarian J. E. Phillips, at a delightful chicken luncheon served by Mrs. Phillips at their 202 North Brand boulevard home. In addition to the local members, five Los Angeles Rotarians were guests: Irving Smith, Edward Twomey, Joseph Bushey, Lawrence Frank and George Silvers.

The following were special guests: Dr. James E. Eckles, R. A. Puffer and Milton W. Nigg.

Music on Program
A brief musical program was provided by Mrs. Blanche V. Holliday and Miss Mabel C. Wheeler, the former a sister of Mrs. Phillips. Miss Richards read "The House with Nobody in It," and "Trees," by Joyce Kilmer, the young American poet killed in the war, the latter poem ending: "Poems are made by fools like me—

But only God can make a tree." A telegram was read from Rotarian Roy L. Kent, past president of the Glendale chapter, addressed Greeley, Colo., and stating that he and his family were motoring in the vicinity of Denver and would return home about September 1.

Change Meeting Place
Announcements were made to the effect that the classification committee would meet with the board of directors for luncheon next Wednesday, August 29, sharp at noon, in the Egyptian Village cafe, 133 North Brand boulevard, and that the Rotary club as a whole would meet at the same place, same hour, the next day, when the program would be in charge of the personal ethics committee.

Mr. Phillips addressed his guests briefly, after which the meeting adjourned.

OAKMONT CLUB IS GAINING MEMBERS

More Than 300 Now Listed As Building Progresses; Equipment Bought

The first allotment of membership is being closed out this week for the Oakmont Country Club. Over 300 have become members of this club, although it was organized only a year ago. About 106 of these are life members.

The Board of Directors is much pleased with the progress in the construction of the new $80,000 clubhouse. The Edwards-Wilsey & Dixon Company of Los Angeles, which is under contract to complete this structure before the middle of November, is two weeks ahead of its schedule and is ready to commence roofing.

Some of the equipment for the new clubhouse has arrived already. Steel lockers, to the number of 371, have been delivered and are now being stored on the premises. On account of the weight of each one, which is fifteen inches wide, eighteen inches deep and seventy-two inches high, it is not believed that it will be necessary to guard them very carefully.

Buying In Glendale
Orders for furnishings and equipment are being placed with Glendale merchants wherever possible, according to H. M. Parker, vice-president and general manager of the Oakmont Country Club. H. S. Webb, well-known merchant, is president.

Over two miles of the sprinkling system pipe has been installed and will be connected in a day or two. After the ground has been properly irrigated for a week the first patch of green will be planted upon the greens.

It is planned to have a nine-hole golf course ready within two months. To hurry the grass along 200 tons of fertilizer will be scattered over this section of the 115 acres.

Among New Members
Five new memberships were received yesterday. These were taken out by R. F. Cullen of 529 North Maryland avenue, J. Warren Hunt of 200 1/2 West Broadway, Peter L. Perry of 614 East Acacia avenue, Alne R. Eastman of 709 North Louise street, W. Arthur Smith of 414 Oak Dr., G. A. Terrill of 311 West Harvard street, and A. H. Merrill of Eagle Rock.

Local memberships taken out this month also include the following: W. T. Gilliam, 409 North Orange; Gaylord Russell, 900 Orange Grove avenue; S. S. Gilhuly, 342 El Bonita avenue; M. W. Hard, 828 North Brand boulevard; Dr. C. R. Lusby, 339 North Louise street; R. E. Corrigan, 115 West Colorado street; Clayton Hall, 218 North avenue; C. J. Hatz, 132 South Brand boulevard; R. E. Spicer, 920 East Broadway; F. W. Cowlin, 346 Hawthorne street; Hal Curtis, 428 South Verdugo road; Robert Jensen, 359 Myrtle street; Dr. C. W. Taylor and Dr. W. B. Crowell of 111 East Broadway; F. B. Nay, 315 North Central avenue, and Dr. C. H. Gowan of 223 West Arden avenue.

Daleys to Give Away Ford Car as Premium

Manager B. H. Wood, in charge of the local Daleys Rock Bottom Store, 135 South Central, announces that his firm is giving away a new 1923 model Ford touring car on October 1.

Under the plan as announced, tickets will be given away at the Daleys stores to anyone who asks for them. A stub of the ticket is to be deposited in a box at the store and on October 1 a big public drawing will determine the winning number.

No purchase is necessary to get a ticket. All you are required to do is ask for the tickets, drop the stub in the box and keep the long end, which will have to be presented in event your ticket wins the Ford.

Further detailed announcements will be made at the Daleys Store and through the columns of this newspaper. Watch for them.

Attorney Morrow and Wife On Vacations

Mrs. Ray L. Morrow of 328 Patterson avenue left today for Berkeley, where she will visit several weeks with friends and relatives. Her husband, who is city attorney, is making plans for a fishing and hunting trip in the mountains back of Bishop. This will occupy the next two weeks. He will be accompanied by his two brothers, Robert Morrow and Clyde Morrow.

Kissing Priest Gets Five-Year Jail Term

MOSCOW, Aug. 24.—Lay Brother Mitraoto has been sentenced to five years imprisonment for kissing a 12-year-old girl, who was praying in church for the return of the health of her mother. Mitraoto pleaded love for children, and it was testified that he had kissed other children in his church.

SWIM AND DANCE AT SUNSET CLUB

Community Service Here Is to Be Host; Aquatic Stars Invited

Coming as a big surprise to the members of the Community Service organization and particularly to those who have enrolled for the swimming activity, is the announcement made today by Mrs. J. R. Case Jr. and J. C. Smith, chairman of the swimming committee, relative to the big swim and dancing party to be given Thursday night, August 30, at the Sunset Canyon Country club.

The members of the Sunset Canyon Country club have very kindly donated the use of their beautiful clubhouse to the Community Service for this one night and the chairman of the various committees are planning for an affair which will undoubtedly surpass anything previous.

To See Champions
It is announced that national champion swimmers from the Los Angeles Athletic club will be present to participate in the aquatic events, including exhibitions of fancy diving and other stunts. Races and water games will also be a part of the program.

After the swim, the party will adjourn to the ballroom of the clubhouse, where dancing will be enjoyed.

All members of the Community Service who desire to attend the affair are asked to enroll in the swimming division and procure admittance cards from Community Service headquarters. This is absolutely necessary in order to care for the large numbers who will want to attend.

J. C. Smith, chairman of the swimming activities, will announce at a later date transportation arrangements and further details.

TODAY: Drought Threatens China; Prayers to the Rain God.
TOMORROW: Miscellaneous Paris Notes—By Alice Langclier, of the Paris Staff.

By EDNA LEE BOOKER
For International News Service

SHANGHAI, Aug. 24.—Smoothers, the beats of the priests' drums, the groans from the thousands of Chinese trying to sleep in the courtyards, doorways, on roofs and streets were terrifying. But more pitiful were the haunting cries of the mothers who were imploring the spirits of their dying children to return.

Recently while visiting friends in an interior city where there was no rain for weeks and where cholera claimed many victims, I rode to the city temple where hundreds were worshipping at the shrine of the god of wind and rain.

In the narrow, mat-roofed streets the stench was terrible. Flies, millions of them, crawled lazily over the fruit in the open stands. They swarmed over the hungry dogs, for once too lifeless to bark at a foreigner. They worried the half-naked, half-dead beggars in the shade of the City Gate.

The coffin-makers were working night and day. At last we reached the yellow-walled temple on the banks of the stagnant canal. Priests, in brown robes, were selling paper charms to the crowds of listless men and women. The priests declared that the charms would protect them from the merciless hand of the Plague God.

Wrinkled, bent old women were hobbling on their "Golden Lilies" among the gilded and painted idols which lined the walls burning incense, red candles and silver paper spirit money before many of them. Young wives, with drawn faces, soldiers, in tattered uniforms, pompous merchants, amahs carrying fretful babies, pale-faced scholars, bronzed-backed coolies were all waiting their turn to "kow tow" before the gilded Wind God. They were imploring him to drive the Plague God out of the city gates.

At night the walls of the mourners, the beats of the priests' drums, the groans from the thousands of Chinese trying to sleep in the courtyards, doorways, on roofs and streets were terrifying. But more pitiful were the haunting cries of the mothers who were imploring the spirits of their dying children to return.

A few days later the wind and rain came. There was great rejoicing throughout the city, and I rode again to the temple. The Wind God was given credit for driving out the God of Plague. Garlands of sweet-smelling white jade flowers hung around his fat gold neck. Incense burned at his feet, and gay-colored lanterns, which would be lighted in the evening, festooned the temple grounds. Before the Wind God the grateful living were humbly offering their gifts.

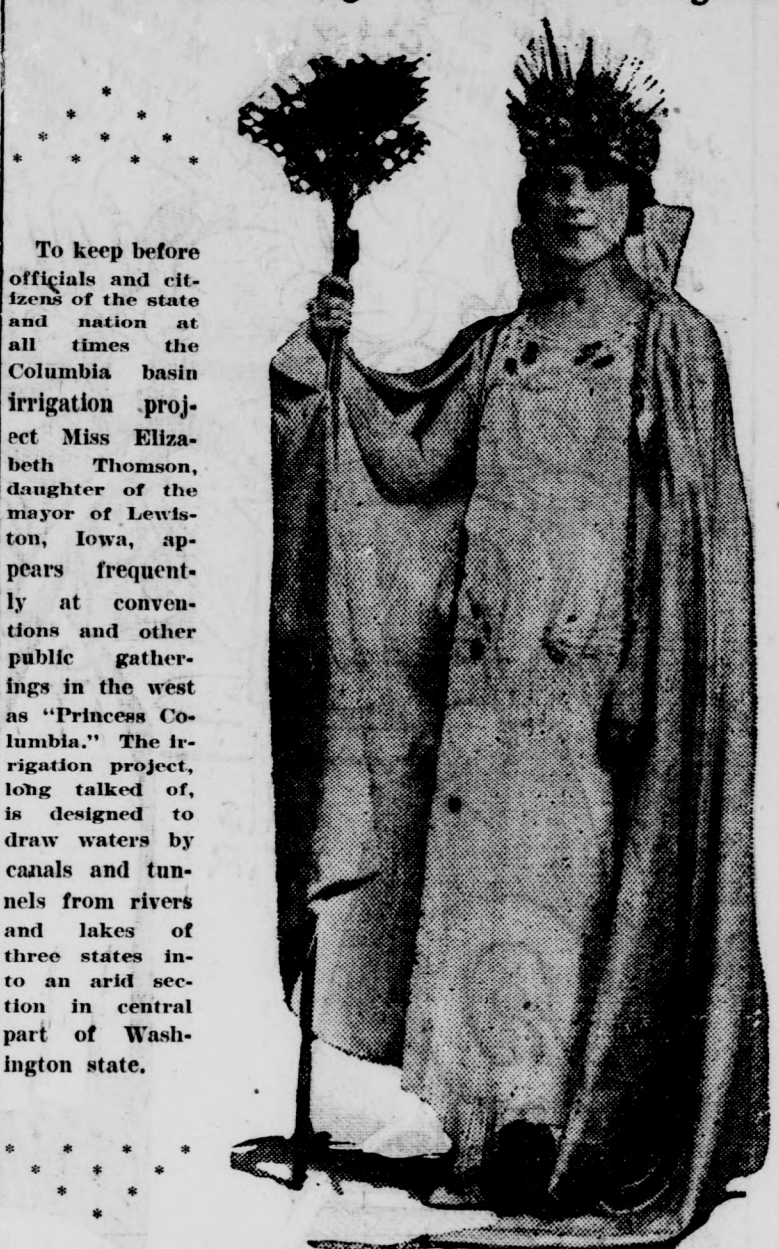

In Tsangchow, Chihli Province, the long drought is causing great anxiety. Two years ago, when this section was facing a similar situation, the priests brought famous rain-producing iron tablets from a northern temple and secured immediate and, in the eyes of the superstitious populace, phenomenal results.

The priests reaped a rich harvest in offerings. This year, however, the miraculous tablets failed to function. The people are amazed. Suspicion has now fallen on the priest who went after the tablets. On his return trip he stopped in Tientsin over night to attend a theatrical performance. The rain which should have come to Tsangchow fell on that particular night in Tientsin, without doubt the rain which was intended for Tsangchow.

The priest who yielded to the allurements of the gay city is a sad man these days.

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAY'S NEWS

GENERAL GOURAUD

General Gouraud, who is visiting America as the guest of the Rainbow division and to support his appeal for a monument to the thousands of soldiers who fell in the Champagne, is one of the great figures of the war. As Murat and Ney live in the legends of the recent great conflict. He shares their fame and popularity as a first-class fighting man, a daring leader with all the picturesque qualities of the hero.

His whole life has been lived in uniform in the saddle and in staff councils. Going to North Africa when he was a young man, he spent twenty years in the colonial service, and before the war had established a reputation as one of the ablest and most daring of the French colonial commanders.

When the war broke out Gouraud, then a colonel, was recalled to France and spent the winter of 1914 in conducting the almost forgotten offensive of the Argonne around the Four de Paris. In the spring of the following year he was sent to the Dardanelles in command of the French expeditionary corps. The fighting in the first few desperate weeks of the campaign was crowded into the tiny area between the front line trenches and the sea. Gouraud's bravery soon became a legend among the French and British troops. On June 6, 1915, he was struck by a shell which burst into a tent hospital which he was visiting, and so seriously injured him that he lost his right arm.

After his recovery, in the winter of 1915-16 he was appointed to command the French army, which held some fifty miles of trenches on the Champagne front. For a few weeks in the spring of 1917 he was in Morocco replacing Lyauty, who had been recalled to Paris to become minister of war, but Lyauty was again sent to Morocco and Gouraud returned to his headquarters at Chalons.

When the Germans struck their final blow on July 14, 1918, it was on the front of Gouraud's army that they failed. With the rest of the victorious French generals he swept toward the Rhine until the armistice put an end to the fighting. After the signing of the armistice he was sent to Syria as the French high commissioner.

The Rainbow (Forty-second American division) fought with the French under General Gouraud in the decisive defeat of the Germans in the Champagne sector.

MAGNUS JOHNSON

The recent election to the senate of Magnus Johnson, two-fisted, strong-lunged farmer of Kimball, Minn., goes down not only as one of the biggest political jolts of recent years, but as one of the most interesting happenings in the political world of recent months. Johnson's opponents referred repeatedly to his loud voice and his rough and ready tactics. Johnson admits he has a voice that "can be heard." He developed his lungs when a lad learning the glassblowers' trade in Sweden. The senator-elect was born in Varmland, Sweden, in 1871. After trying the glass trade a while he heard the call of the sea and sailed before the mast. His father was a well-known ship owner in his homeland.

The senator-elect came to the United States when twenty years of age and went to Minnesota. He began life there as a mill hand and lumberjack. He had taken a leading part in the Farmer-Labor party's activities in his state the last three or four years.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BUNTY'S BLOCKS

One day, when Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy tossed some crumbs out of the kitchen door for the birds to eat, a Robin Red Breast flew down, and sang a song of thanks for the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"Cheer up! Cheer up! Cheer up!" sang the Robin. "I am cheerful, happy and gay!" laughed Nurse Jane. "And so is Uncle Wiggily, for I saw his pink nose twinkling just now!"

"And I feel happy, too," sang the Robin. "But I know some one who isn't happy."

"Who?" asked Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "Little Baby Bunty," chirped the Robin as he picked up the last of the crumbs. "Baby Bunty has a cold and must stay in the house. I flew past a little while ago and I heard her say: 'Oh, how sad and unhappy I am.' And I think she is."

"Who?" asked Uncle Wiggily, coming out on the porch just then. "Baby Bunty," answered the Robin, as he told about the little rabbit girl. Uncle Wiggily hopped into the hollow stump bungalow, got his coolest cap and hopped out again.

"Where are you going?" asked Nurse Jane. "Over to amuse Baby Bunty," answered Mr. Longears. "It isn't right that she should be sad and unhappy while I am so jolly and glad. I shall share my happiness with her."

Over the fields and through the woods hopped the bunny rabbit gentleman, until he reached the house where Baby Bunty lived with Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig. Baby Bunty was an orphan, and she lived at times with the different animal folk of Woodland—sometimes with one, sometimes with another and sometimes with Uncle Wiggily.

Just now Baby Bunty lived with Mrs. Twistytail, but the lady pig had gone down town shopping at the eleven and twelve cent store, so the little rabbit girl was left alone.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! I'm so glad to see you!" squealed Baby Bunty as Mr. Longears hopped in. "I've come to amuse you and make you happy," said Uncle Wiggily.

"Will you play blocks with me and build bridges and towers and castles and the like of that?" Baby Bunty wanted to know.

"Uncle Wiggily twinkled his pink little nose and said he would, so he started to make a house out of blocks for Baby Bunty.

"That's lovely!" laughed the little rabbit girl, when it was finished. "Now make a big, tall tower," Uncle Wiggily.

So Uncle Wiggily piled the blocks up, one on top of another, until he had made quite a tall tower, not quite as tall as the Woolworth building, but almost. "That's wonderful!" said Baby Bunty. "But there are a few more blocks left, Uncle Wiggily. Make it higher."

"I'm afraid I do it will fall down," said Mr. Longears. "Oh, that will be more fun than anything," laughed Baby Bunty. So, very carefully, Uncle Wiggily piled up more blocks, until the tower was almost as high as the

BILLY WILKES

Billy and Nannie had traveled miles and miles to get to the exposition at San Francisco. At last the long, tedious journey was ended, and they found themselves in front of the Oakland ferry, waiting to take the boat for San Francisco.

They thought they might have some trouble in getting aboard, but everyone was so busy with their own affairs that they did not see the goats under a big wagon with bales of alfalfa hay. The cool breeze from the bay was most refreshing, and Nannie enjoyed watching the seagulls dive for bits of food the passengers threw overboard. But she did not like the cries of the gulls. She said it sounded sad to her, and made her feel lonesome.

In a short time they were across the bay and being hustled off the ferry, and they took good care to keep well under the load of alfalfa hay until they were outside the ferry station, when they stood still and let the wagon pass from over them. When they were clear of it they looked about and found themselves in San Francisco proper, at the foot of Market street, facing the hills on which the city is built.

"Goodness gracious, Billy! Are these people crazy to build their city on such hills? I should think there was land enough around here to find a place to build upon without selecting an up-and-down place like this. I should think if an earthquake came it would shake all the high buildings on the top of the hills down on the others and knock them over like a row of card houses. Shouldn't you?"

But Nannie's surprise at the buildings on the hills was nothing to her amazement when she saw street cars climbing hills at an angle for forty-five degrees, and running up and down them as easily as ants run up an ant hill.

Bang! went a rattling tin can as it hit the pavement under Billy's feet. The person throwing it had intended to hit Billy, but missed him. Seeing this, he took up a potato and threw it at Nannie, hitting her in the side.

Now he had much better have

DINNER STORIES

"I heard a queer story in town yesterday," replied Jack Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "It was windy one day and a lady came around a corner, and a certain fellow turned his head so quick he broke his neck."

"That's just like all the men—drat 'em!" returned Mrs. Johnson. "They'll look every time a woman."

"But the story goes that this fellow tried to look the other way, and—"

When Truth Will Out

Today's Short Story
by
Ad Schuster

After the doors of the penitentiary had closed upon George Flint everything seemed different. His attitude in court, his proud defiance of questions, the silence he had thought of, almost as noble, appeared to him now as needless, mock-heroic. Four years! When he returned to Carlington Gwendoline would be married more than likely. And Archie? George Flint's laugh was hard and forced. It would be just one more of the peculiar twists life held for him if these two should wed.

Suppose he called the guards, asked to see the garden, and explained just how it was? Would they believe a story which he had not told in court. George thought over the story and shrugged his shoulders. In their places he would not believe it himself.

A romantic boy, a promise, and the firm belief that the innocent are never convicted, had taken him through a court scene in which his love of the dramatic was fed to the full. His silence had baffled them. He had neither affirmed nor denied and when it was over he held his secret and had kept the oath. He remembered how glad he had been when the case went to the jury, how he had shot one proud glance across the room at Archie. Gwendoline's head was bowed.

Now—well, it was different. Dramatics and heroics were out of place. He was to have four years and a prison record because of a boy's idea of honor. For standing by a friend.

At the end of two months the lad sought distraction in trivial things, invented tales and stratagems to occupy his mind. A mouse in the corridor became an adventure, a whispered word in the file to meals was enough to make the day momentous.

When he was taken from his cell one day and led to a room adjoining the warden's office George understood something unusual was in the air and was satisfied. He revealed in this small change of scene and, though he stood erect and motionless, there was nothing which escaped the eyes. A number of men, serious men in spectacles, were there with the warden and George heard his name.

"There was always some doubt," the warden said. "He simply refused to testify for himself."

"Young man," one of the strange men spoke, "we are physicians from the Convention of the American Medical Association. But the warden and one other who is a chief of police. If you are willing we would like to try an experiment which may determine whether or not you are guilty."

"Will it hurt?"
"Not a bit."
George nodded. Maybe they would discover he was innocent. There could be no harm in this. Anyway, it would give him something to think about in the months to come.

Not long afterward George Flint's conscious will left him. He does not remember what took place. As he sat in the presence of the physicians one explained the purpose of the experiment. "You all know scopolamin. It is what is used in twilight sleep. It is my theory that a man under its influence will respond to suggestion, answer queries, and speak without any prompting or any restrictions imposed by the will. He will tell the truth, for it is the conscious will which makes him lie."

Then George was asked about the theft for which he was serving time. Piece by piece the story came out, a story of George and Archie in high school, of a solemn oath taken at midnight by two pale-faced lads, and sealed in writing by blood pricked from their wrists. Followed the theft by Archie, and the discovery, a pitiful appeal and the renewal of the oath—the trial and Archie's drawn face. At its conclusion the men were visibly impressed.

"It should be easy to check this up," said the chief of police. "If the boy's story proves right, your theory will have stood at least one test and a wrong will be righted."

George rubbed his eyes and looked upon a changed group. They had been businesslike and practical before. Now they were smiling and friendly. He looked his question.

"We don't know," the warden said. "In a week I'll tell you all about it."

When George went back to Carlington he was greeted warmly. There were many who said he had been foolish to take the blame of another.

"All but you," he said to Gwendoline, "are too old to understand."

PICTORIAL REVIEW

ADMIRABLE FOR FORMAL OCCASIONS

The new shades of blue are charming for afternoon frocks, especially as featured in the crepe silks. To the left is a straight-line model carried out in flat crepe with which is combined silver lace, the trimming forming the vestee. The back of the blouse extends over the shoulders and is joined to the gathered fronts in yoke effect. The model belongs to the group of clannish styles which stick to the same material principally, even in the selection of the girle. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch crepe and 1/2 yard lace insertion 8 inches wide.

Figured crepe is combined with plain self-material in the second model, which is colorful indeed. The background of gray forms an effective setting for the neckband and draped panel of red, orange, blue and gray figured crepe. Short set-in sleeves are faced with gray crepe, and there are twin buckles at the side to secure the drapery. Medium size requires 4 yards of plain and 1 1/4 yards of figured material 36 inches wide.

First Model—Pictorial Review Dress No. 1683. Sizes, 34 to 50 inches bust. Price, 35 cents.

Second Model—Dress No. 1680. Sizes, 34 to 42 inches bust, and 16 to 20 years. Price, 35 cents.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

DON'T TRY TO ANSWER

When you do anyone a kindness you do not mean to lay a burden on his or her shoulders, do you?

Yet there are people who make their kindnesses such a burden, and complain if those who have received them are not willing to accept the burden.

This is the sort of thing I mean:

I heard a neighbor of mine criticizing a mutual friend of ours for rudeness. And the rudeness consisted in the fact that she had not answered a letter of sympathy sent to her at a time when she was very ill.

A Burden for a Convalescent
Now I happened to know that this friend had had a long and slow convalescence. Like the rest of us she has a part to play in the routine of family life and she has tried to take up her household boiler until thickened, stirring constantly. When thick, remove from fire and beat with an egg beater till cold. Have ready a pint of heavy cream beaten stiff (measured before beating), which you have flavored with one tablespoon of vanilla, and fold this cream into the cooled mixture. Turn all into baking powder cans and pack in equal parts of ice and rock salt, to stand three or four hours. In winter time I freeze it in snow and rock salt, using three small shovels of snow to each good handful of the salt.

BEAUTY CHATS

Last week I gave one treatment for curing the tiny blackheads that follow large pores, but I did not give the blackhead cleansing powder, which is an effective treatment for all blackheads, but particularly for large ones. This is made as follows:

Blackhead Cleansing Powder
Wheat or corn starch..... 2 oz.
Powdered borax..... 1 oz.
Almond meal..... 1 oz.

This is a somewhat drying powder that penetrates the enlarged pores of the skin, absorbs the oily, greasy blackhead and, when washed out, brings a large part with it. As it is so drying I advise its use in place of soap, for it has extraordinary cleansing powers.

First, wash the skin with hot water. Wring a soft towel out of hot water and hold it over the face for about five minutes, renewing it as it grows cold. By this time the skin will be red and the pores open from the heat.

While the face is wet, take a quantity of the powder on the finger tips and rub it in thoroughly. As the skin absorbs it rub in more, and finally rinse it all off with hot water. Rub in a little cold cream then, for the skin will be dry. Rinse with cold water or rub the face with ice.

This treatment is for all cases where blackheads are numerous or where they cannot be squeezed out.

An occasional, prominent blackhead can be squeezed out after the skin has been softened by steaming with hot water, by pressing a watch key over the place, or by rolling the fingers in a clean handkerchief and using them to press down the skin on each side. After they have been squeezed out the skin must be rinsed for some time with very cold water to close these enlarged pores; if not, a new blackhead will form.

Louise: A girl of 16 years who is five feet in height is normal at 110 pounds. Eat less starchy or sweet foods, and get as much exercise outdoors as you can. If you could play tennis every day it would give you all the exercise that you need to keep your figure looking trim.

"What's the use of turning the ice cream crank when we can make parfaits that freeze themselves?" exclaimed a young husband when he preferred to read his newspaper instead of grinding the freezer crank. And I don't know but he's right! A parfait is just as delicious as an ice cream—so, in very hot weather, why not make the thing that takes the least energy? Try one of the following:

Caramel Parfait—Put one cup of granulated sugar into a dry frying pan and place the pan over direct heat; stir till the sugar melts and even let it burn a little, then pour into the frying pan, carefully, one-half cup of boiling water; it will foam a good deal when you add the water and will also lump, but keep the pan over the fire until the lumps dissolve, still stirring. Let cool slightly, then turn the brownish liquid over two egg yolks which you have mixed with one-half cup of extra sugar and put into the top of a double boiler. Cook the mixture over hot water till thickened, then add to it one-half tablespoon of granulated gelatine which you have soaked in just enough water to cover it—soak it at least five minutes in this water. Stir well and turn the custard into a china dish to cool. Chill it, then add to it one and one-half cups of heavy cream beaten stiff (measured before beating) and flavored with one teaspoon of vanilla. Turn all into a mold or into your ice cream freezer can. Cover closely (if you use a regular aluminum mold, line the cover with waxed paper, and bind the crack between mold and cover with adhesive tape, or smear it with lard and bind around with a strip of cloth). Pack in equal parts of cracked ice and rock salt and let stand four hours before serving. (Do not turn the ice cream freezer handle if you make parfait in the freezer can.)

Brown Sugar Parfait—(This recipe was originated by a Reader Friend, Miss N. T.) "Put three-fourths of a cup of brown sugar and one-half cup of water into a saucepan and cook until it forms a thread. Beat two eggs well, then turn the sirup slowly onto the eggs, beaten with an egg beater (this operation, of course, requires two people). Now cook this mixture in the top of a double boiler until thickened, stirring constantly. When thick, remove from fire and beat with an egg beater till cold. Have ready a pint of heavy cream beaten stiff (measured before beating), which you have flavored with one tablespoon of vanilla, and fold this cream into the cooled mixture. Turn all into baking powder cans and pack in equal parts of ice and rock salt, to stand three or four hours. In winter time I freeze it in snow and rock salt, using three small shovels of snow to each good handful of the salt."

C. E. PECK TELLS OF TRIP EAST

1923 Texas Cotton Crop Is Burned, He Reports; Visited Home Towns

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Peck, of 114 South Louise street, covered 5000 miles in their recent eastern trip, from which they returned August 12, having left Glendale June 23. The trip took them among other places to Kent, Ohio, where Mr. Peck visited his old home, and to Belle Vernon, Pa., where Mrs. Peck visited here.

Mr. Peck also made a pilgrimage to the Southwest Normal college, in California, Pa., where he graduated with the class of 1876. There he met E. J. Smith, the only other living member of that class of over forty-seven years ago, a man who for all those years has been a professor at the college.

The trip, although made primarily with the idea of vacationing and revisiting old and cherished spots, was undertaken partially so that Mr. Peck, who is a radio expert and inventor, might investigate some of the latest eastern developments.

Mr. Peck has been building and installing sets for some time and has made a careful study of the subject. It was he who installed the radio apparatus to be found in each of the twenty suites at the Frederick apartments of Fred A. Reinecke, at 121 South Kenwood street, developing for the first time a multiple receiving system without a separate rheostat for each unit.

It is reported by Mr. Peck that prospects indicate bumper wheat and corn crops in the middle-west, but that in the south, for a radius of 100 miles around Houston, Tex., the drouth has stunted and burned the cotton crop, so that in some sections a total failure is predicted. As a result of the collapse of the 1923 Texas cotton crop, farmers of the Imperial valley, whose irrigated lands have allowed them to raise bumper crops of this "white gold," should be able to recoup their losses of recent years, in the face of almost certain advances in the cotton market, according to Mr. Peck.

TORTURE GANG'S MYSTERY VEILED

Long Beach Lad Is Dazed by Hot Acid, Unable to Reveal Assailants

LONG BEACH, Aug. 24.—Local and Federal authorities are investigating the mysterious torturing of Clarence Hale, 19, which the officials say is one of the strangest cases to come to their attention in years. Young Hale is confined to his home suffering from effects of acid or grease burns and apparently is mentally unbalanced from the physical mistreatment to which he was subjected by his mysterious assailants.

According to the boy's father, he went to Los Angeles a week ago to join the marine corps. He was accepted and ordered to report to the San Diego office. Hale is supposed to have left for the Southern City and nothing was heard from him until Wednesday night, when he staggered into his home here, falling unconscious across the doorway.

The boy's clothing was torn to shreds and his body bore bruises and across the back and chest were knife cuts. About his eyes, ears and lips were burns. His mind was dazed and beyond crying that "they" had poured hot acid on him, he was unable to explain his plight.

Further mystery was added to the case when it was learned that young Hale had been rejected from the San Diego office of the Marine Corps because a broken arm had knit slightly out of line.

Posse Brings in Ten Of 12 Railway Bandits

PAWHUSKA, Okla., Aug. 24.—Federal officers arrived here late yesterday with ten men captured in the Osage Hills near Okesa, Oklahoma, whom they charge are members of the bandit gang which early Tuesday held up a passenger train near Okesa and escaped with registered mail.

The men were captured last night in a raid on their stronghold. The raid was conducted without violence, the men submitting peacefully when surrounded by officers.

"We have every man except two of the gang which staged the 'Katy' robbery," said United States Marshall Alva McDonald, who led the posse of 40.

The one who fears that everybody is after his wealth will soon be fleeced single handed.

Elder A. G. Daniels Speaker At Opening Session Of Camp Meeting For Adventists

FULFILLED Prophecy a Proof of the Inspiration of the Bible was the educational and inspirational theme chosen by Elder A. G. Daniels of Washington, D. C., general field secretary and formerly president of the world conference of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination, for the opening meeting last night of the ten day session of the Southern California conference now in progress in Los Angeles at Florence and Vermont avenues.

There were over 1000 church people gathered in the big assembly tent to listen to Elder Daniels in his exposition of the second chapter of the book of Daniel. He pictured in a most interesting way the great image symbolical of the history of the world from Daniel to the end of time. It was the message of this image that foretold the world events before they took place, giving clear proof of the divine inspiration of the prophet Daniel.

Elder Adams Presides

Elder W. M. Adams, president of the Southern California conference, presided over the meeting and gave the announcements. There was congregational singing, also selections by a male quartet, and music on the piano, organ and other instruments.

Among the Glendaleans in attendance were Elder R. W. Parmelee, pastor of Glendale church, and Elder R. W. Munson, chaplain at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Here's Daily Program

The following program is carried out daily in camp; rising bell 5:30 o'clock; devotional meetings in pavilion 6 to 6:50 o'clock; Y. P. M. V. services in Y. P. M. V. tent 6 to 6:50 o'clock; breakfast 7 to 8 o'clock; family worship, each family in their tent 8 o'clock; workers' meetings in Y. P. M. V. tent 8 to 8:45 o'clock; Bible study and revival services in pavilion 9 to 10:45 o'clock; Sabbath school hour (Sabbath) 9 to 10:45 o'clock; children's meetings in their respective tents 9 o'clock; conference or departmental meetings in pavilion 11 to 12:15 o'clock. The program for afternoon and evening is: Dinner 12:30 to 2 o'clock; medical meetings in pavilion 2 to 2:50 o'clock; Bible study or departmental meetings

Mayor Robinson Wants Penalty On White Shirts

THERE ought to be a law passed making the wearing of a white shirt a penal offense!

This is the calm, carefully considered opinion of Mayor Spencer Robinson after spending his vacation in the woods and along the streams of the mountain ranges, away back from those places where a man has to walk on sidewalks and wear good clothes every day.

"Any man," continued Mayor Robinson, "who would willingly live in a city where he has to dress up all the time must have something radically wrong with him."

"I never get as much fun and enjoyment out of life as I do when I am out-of-doors in California, wearing old clothes."

EXTEND JAPAN PACT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The Root-Takahara arbitration treaty between the United States and Japan has been extended for five years. It was announced at the state department yesterday.

Special services are held in the German and Spanish languages in their respective tents.

SICK STAGE STAR KNOWN HERE Marjorie Rambeau Former Glendale Resident

Marjorie Rambeau

THE name and talent of Marjorie Rambeau, clever and successful actress of the legitimate stage, are most familiar to Glendaleans, for Miss Rambeau and her mother, Mrs. Lillian Rambeau and grandmother, Mrs. Kindelberger, resided at 112 East Chestnut street some six years ago. Among her hosts of devoted friends in southern California is Mrs. Dora Glazier of West Windsor road. While on her way to California recently to open her present engagement in Los Angeles, Miss Rambeau was seized with a sudden attack of appendicitis, was taken to a hospital and her appearance was delayed one week. She has now fully recovered.

It was while playing in the old Morosco stock company, many members of it living in Glendale, seven or eight years ago, that Miss Rambeau became recognized as a satellite worthy of New York stardom.

LOIS PAINTER AND H. PETERSON WED

Little Church of Flowers Is Scene of Ceremony;
Reception Held

At a ceremony taking place last night, Thursday, August 23, 1923, at 6 o'clock in the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Memorial park, Miss Lois Painter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Painter of 802 East Acacia avenue, became the bride of Harold Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Peterson of Oland, Calif. Elder McElhany of the Seventh-day Adventist Union conference was the officiant.

The chancel of the church had been transformed into a beauty spot, banked with a variety of palms and greenery, intermingled with which were sprays of yellow and lavender flowers. It was here the bridal party stood during the reading of the ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Helen Gettys sang "Gentle Rain" accompanied on the piano by Miss Dorothy Roach, who also played the Lohengrin wedding march for the entrance of the bridal party. The first members of the bridal party to enter were the ushers, Clement Counter and John Potts, of Mountain, Calif.

Carry Arm Bouquets
The next to enter were the bridesmaids, Miss Ethel Mondon and Miss Olive Travis, of Glendale, who wore yellow voile gowns. They carried arm bouquets of lavender sweet peas and maiden hair fern.

Then came the maid of honor, Miss Myrtle Painter, sister of the bride, who wore a gown of lavender voile and carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses and fern.

The dainty flower girls, Eloise Cyphers and Virginia Smith, followed, dressed in orchid gowns. They carried little yellow baskets filled with orange blossoms and roses which they scattered before the bride.

Miss Painter was the next to enter, attired in a beautiful bridal gown of cream colored silk crepe trimmed with silk lace. She wore a wedding veil caught with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses, lilies of the valley and fern.

Mr. Peterson was attended by George Marcus of Fresno.

As the bridal party left the church Miss Roach played Mendelssohn's wedding march.

Reception Is Held

Tax Rate to Be Decided Monday Night by Council

A N armistice in the city administration's battle to fix the local tax rate was called until next Monday night.

A difference of about four cents in the proposed rate is the bone of contention. Councilman Asa Hall maintains that a rate of $1.06 or $1.08 will be sufficient. Councilman Sam Davis, who was in office when the imposition of a meter tax was necessary to defray expenses, and city employees had to discount their salary warrants, believes that a rate of $1.12 to $1.13 would be more adequate. City Controller H. C. Salsberry recommends not less than $1.12.

City Attorney Ray L. Morrow called attention to the fact that the local tax rate must be based exclusively upon the recently adopted budget. He reminded the Council that the tax rate must be fixed not later than Monday night, August 27.

Councilman W. A. Horn asserted that he is opposed to having the rate one cent higher than absolutely necessary.

Mayor Spencer Robinson took no part in the controversy. Councilman C. E. Kimlin was absent, due to a slight indisposition.

Ordinance Extends District for Stores

The City Council last night adopted an ordinance making Maryland avenue between Wilson and California avenues into a commercial district. Councilman Sam Davis expressed opposition to such action. It was requested in a petition signed by the following property owners: Attorney Bert P. Woodard, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McCoy, G. A. Cleaveland, representing the First Church of Christian Science; David G. Crofton, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Fink, Helen R. Anchem, Z. R. Brown, W. J. Strang, D. H. Couss, Genevieve I. Boland and Evelyn R. Central Avenue Paving And Street Lighting Proceedings Ordered Started By Council

THE City Council last night took action looking forward to the improvement of Central avenue. City Engineer Ben F. Dupuy and City Attorney Ray L. Morrow were instructed to prepare plans for the paving of each side of Central avenue between San Fernando road and Broadway, and the installation of ornamental lights the entire length of the thoroughfare. The opinion seemed to prevail that this work would be done as soon as possible.

A "bomb" was thrown into the meeting, however, by Peter Deidrich, superintendent of the public service department. He called attention to the fact that the present 14-inch pipe on Central avenue between Broadway and Park avenue will have to be replaced before the sides of the thoroughfare are paved.

Delay of Six Months

On account of uncertain deliveries he added that it was very unlikely that this pipe could be obtained for the job in less than six months. He stated that he probably would be better informed about deliveries when bids are received for $60,000 worth of pipe the first part of next month.

The subject of the improvement of Central avenue was brought up by Charles B. Guthrie of 110 West Broadway, president of the Central Avenue Improvement association. He introduced two resolutions by this organization which were as follows:

"This association recommends that immediate action be taken that Central avenue from Broadway to San Fernando road be paved with Warrenite bitulithic paving fourteen feet from curb to center of road on each side of the street, leaving the present crown until the sewer is ready to be put in. The paving to be done under the 1911 act and amendments thereto.

Would Start at Once

"This association recommends that the honorable City Council of Glendale take the necessary legal steps to condemn ten feet on each side of Central avenue from Broadway to San Fernando road so that future buildings erected on said avenue between Broadway and San Fernando road be set back ten feet from the present property line."

The importance of establishing the specified set-back line was emphasized by John S. Knox of 435 South Central avenue. He called attention to a store building which has just been completed at 210 South Central avenue. (Continued on page 5)

POLICE SEEKING VALUABLE LOOT

Robberies at Two Homes in Last 48 Hours Reveal
Discerning Thief

Several hundred dollars' worth of loot from two Glendale homes is sought by the police department, according to a bulletin issued this morning describing the losses from the J. W. Knight home at 704 North Howard street and the Walter Measdale home at 1601 Hill drive which have been burglarized some time during the last 48 hours.

A diamond lavalliere, a portable electric sewing machine, a black lynx muff and other clothing, several articles of gold jewelry and $4.37 in cash is included in the list furnished the police by Mr. Knight.

"Old Horse," a Civil War revolver and family relic, $10 in cash, five gold rings, a large white fur, several pair of silk stockings and some silk underwear is among the collection made by the "Raffles" who took occasion to enter the Measdale house during the owners' absence.

Other similar burglaries and the desire for relics as well as choice clothing are giving the detectives a hint as to the identity of the parties who are perpetrating this summer series of thefts.

3 Exceptional Bargains

West Wilson Ave.

54x187—we will subdivide this property and sell you any size lot you want. Don't let this wonderful opportunity pass. West Wilson frontage will be selling for $350 per front foot in less than one year. We are offering it for much less.

Be first and don't pay the other man a profit.

South Brand

Can you visualize what frontage will be worth on this wonderful boulevard in one year? Where over two million dollars' worth of property has changed hands in the past eighteen months? We have several good buys close in and if we can't make you real money on your investments on South Brand boulevard we will quit business. It's sure money. Think of this—37x90, close in, for $11,500. Terms.

East Colorado

99x188—in the heart of activity. Priced below anything on East Colorado—$13,500. A little cash, balance in five years. Buy ahead of the East Colorado building boom, and reap the reward. Think what boulevard the Pasadena tourist will drive over when we get our new S. P. Depot! Glendale's new depot is four miles nearer to Pasadena than Los Angeles.

"Nothing But Business and Income Properties"

Mr. Real Estate Investor, are you giving your investments the proper consideration? Have you given Glendale Real Estate the proper study to increase your investments? Have you studied

San Fernando Boulevard

Have you watched other real estate buyers in their investments? Have you doubled and trebled your investments?

If you have not, you have not studied San Fernando Boulevard. When I say that I have doubled and trebled my investments, I am not exaggerating. I have built in the last ten months Seventy-One Thousand Dollars ($71,000) worth of buildings on San Fernando Boulevard and have purchased over Two Hundred Thousand Dollars ($200,000) worth of real estate.

I have rented all of my buildings before they were completed. I am starting now to build Fifty Thousand Dollars ($50,000) worth of buildings on San Fernando Boulevard. I have none of these buildings rented and I have not sold any. I could rent four times that many if I now had them completed.

Buildings on San Fernando Boulevard have a ready market. The average man does not understand that there are dozens of small industries coming into Glendale every day and going out because they cannot secure space or lease a building or get some one to build for them.

I have built my limit but I will continue to build as I get the money to build with. You are missing opportunities every day. Give San Fernando Boulevard some consideration before you make an investment.

You cannot lose by placing your money on San Fernando Boulevard, one of the greatest public highways in southern California, where there are over twenty-five thousand vehicles passing every day in the year.

I cannot handle all of the great bargains and opportunities alone. Call in and see me in regard to investments on San Fernando Boulevard and I will gladly show you what I have to offer.

BURBANK

SEEK REPEAL OF OCCUPATION TAX

Demand for Abolition Made
By Members of Burbank
Realty Board

Whether or not Burbank business men will continue to be taxed for the privilege of doing business in this city is to be largely a matter of their own deciding. In other words, a questionnaire on the occupational tax has been sent to each merchant and the Board of Trustees will formulate their decision on the sentiment disclosed.

The questionnaire is a result of the appeal to the city fathers by the Realty board for the abolition of this tax. J. D. Radcliff presented in person the resolution adopted by the realtors, and immediately following each trustee expressed his opinion on the subject.

The sentiment seems to be that if this tax is to be lifted from reality operations, it should cease to attach to other commercial enterprises as well.

Curiously enough, the occupational tax in this city is a self-imposed Frankenstein, the merchants a year ago being decidedly anxious to protect themselves against "fly-by-nights," to the extent that many of them pleaded for a $100 instead of a $50 a year license.

Here is a story that follows naturally the lines of a three-act play, with: Act I, A Beauty Parlor; Act II, A Cooler; and Act III, A Beanery. The two principal characters are Paddy Larry, a son of the old sod, and Charles Gregory, of intermediate nativity; while their foils are Judge Crawford, "the Solomon of Burbank," and an anonymous villain, who can be dubbed "the Bad Man of Los Angeles."

Here is a brief synopsis of the action:

Act I—Beauty Parlor. The locale is Los Angeles. Paddy and Charlie purchase four bottles of "the perfect massage and rub," which later develops 95 per cent of alcohol, ether methyl or ethyl, the effect as far as this place is concerned being the same in either case.

Act II—Cooler. This is in Burbank. Paddy and Charlie, who observe that Paddy's eyes are evenly and artistically blacked. Dialogue develops in which it is disclosed that these two fair weather comrades are fresh from a Los Angeles jug, where the optical disguise was put on by the Villain, who seems to have been somewhat of a make-up artist as well as a bad man. Deponents state they are on their way up the valley to pick beans.

Act III—Beanery. Somewhere in the San Fernando valley. Paddy and Charlie active, rather battered but serviceable—and, above all, dry, having left behind them the remains of "the perfect massage and rub," at the earnest solicitation of Judge Crawford, who, in exchange for this donation, sent them on their way with no further levy. The curtain descends on a scene of pastoral beauty and tranquility, Paddy and Charlie penitently picking beans.

SALESMAN TELLS QUALITIES NEEDED

Observance of Rules Helps
Electrical Expert to Sell
Appliances

In order to make the maximum of sales of electrical major appliances, one must have self-control, courage and persistence, and in a way must be a student of psychology, according to H. J. Cox, manager of the good housekeeping department of the Glendale Hardware Company, 601 East Broadway.

This department, which was opened two months ago with a complete stock of up-to-date washing machines, electric ironers, vacuum cleaners and gas ranges, has proved a big success, under the capable management of Mr. Cox, who has had twenty-five years of experience in the electrical appliance line and is an electrical engineer.

Mr. Cox comes direct from Pomona, where he sold 300 electric washing machines in ten months. Prior to that he had charge of a large chain of stores operated by the Texas Power & Light Company of Dallas, where he had 150 salesmen under him.

The ten commandments of salesmanship, which Mr. Cox follows in the good housekeeping department of the Glendale Hardware Company, are: Be agreeable, know your goods, don't argue, make things plain, tell the truth, be dependable, remember names and faces, don't be egotistical, think success, and be human.

INQUIRIES INVITED

ALL NATIONS Marching to ARMAGEDDON

But----"millions now living will never die"

In a FREE LECTURE at the Coliseum, Sunday, Aug. 26

Judge Rutherford will prove by prophecy fulfilled and in course of fulfillment, that the greatest crisis of the ages is upon the world; that all nations are mustering their forces for the great battle of Armageddon foretold by the prophet of God; that the Lord will cut short the terrible conflict and millions now living will never die.

JUDGE RUTHERFORD SAYS:

"THE WORLD faces a condition never before experienced. Fear has taken hold upon all classes of people because they see in a measure the things coming upon the earth. The nations are in distress and perplexity.

"THE WAR did not make the world safe for democracy. The very foundations of civilization are now shaken by revolution, labor strikes, official lawlessness, profiteers, Bolshevism and anarchy. Both capital and labor are resorting to extreme measures. The common people have lost confidence in their leaders. The clergy have abandoned the Word of God and joined hands with big business and big politicians in an attempt to control the world, and these are opposed by radical forces.

"EUROPE is completely bankrupt, with her restless host of unemployed and discontents hourly increasing. Belligerent organizations are rapidly numbering their men and taking account of their strength. All contending forces are hastening to the great battle of Armageddon. [Revelation 16:16.] The disaster resulting is beyond the description of human words.

"BUT let the people take heart. The Lord will cut short the trouble, bring order out of chaos, establish peace and righteousness; and millions of people now living will become obedient to His order of righteousness and will live on the earth forever in peace and happiness."

MRS. HALL GIVES COOKING LESSONS

Women Invited to Attend Her Demonstrations Today and Tomorrow

That the old adage "The easiest way to reach a man's heart is through his stomach" is still true, is the very positive conviction of Mrs. Harriet Hall, who for the past several days has been giving special cooking demonstrations for the Enterprise Furniture Company of this city.

According to her friends, Mrs. Hall is a successful housewife and a splendid housekeeper. Her success is attributed to the fact that she can cook and cook well. Mrs. Hall's cooking demonstrations here have proved a big drawing card and hundreds of Glendale women have visited the Enterprise Furniture store at 216 East Broadway, to hear and see her in these practical demonstrations.

E. A. Schullian, of the Enterprise Furniture Company announced this morning that he had secured Mrs. Hall to continue her demonstration at the Brand Blvd. Store 1261 South Brand, this afternoon and all day Saturday.

A special demonstration of baking bread, cakes and pastry will be given this afternoon while tomorrow a full dinner menu will be prepared and cooked. The management of the store have extended a cordial invitation to all interested housewives to attend. The famous New Method gas range is used by Mrs. Hall in her demonstrations.

COMMENT That's All

New Air Mail Records Strikes Benefit No One Prosperity and Confidence How to Effect Reform
By Gil A. Cowan

SPREADING across continent in less than 28 hours' time, guided over the almost boundless prairies of the central states by monster searchlights flashing their beams against the skies, the United States air mail service has written history in the last few days by delivering New York mail in San Francisco the afternoon of the day after it was mailed and in the reverse trip actually delivering message of the morning to people on the Atlantic before dinner next day.

The postmaster general yesterday reported to President Coolidge the results of this experiment which he termed "tremendously successful," for air mail service is not an innovation. Practically all of the pilots had been over the route many times before.

And they entered into the achievement of new records with that will to win which marks the American spirit from time immemorial.

All credit to the mail flyers.

Imminence of an anthracite coal miners' strike presents the administrative officers of the United States with the first big crisis since Calvin Coolidge succeeded Warren Harding as president.

Fortunately, this issue will not concern California seriously, although damage to industry done by strikes affects all parts of the country.

The stand of John L. Lewis of the mine workers' union in opposition to the arbitration of the wage dispute clearly indicates a condition of mind which is not healthy.

First, if the public will not give the miners a square deal, it is time they quit mining forever.

Second, if the miners won't give the public a fair deal, the latter had better call it quits and get rid of the miners.

We believe in arbitration, particularly in economic situations. We do not condone France's action in invading the Ruhr, although it may consider itself morally right.

We do not believe that two wrongs ever make right and a coal strike, or rail strike, not to mention a few thousand other strikes, are fundamentally wrong in that they do no one good.

Glendale isn't worrying about strikes and everyone who works here than can be efficiently handled, so there is no chance for idleness on other scores.

It was interesting to note the city's efforts the other day to get a carpenter crew to do a little repair job. Almost impossible to find a builder who would take charge of the work and had to bring out men at night to complete it.

How a country could be more prosperous than Southern California we cannot imagine. In fact, it is so white a spot, in the parlance of economists, that "it almost puts your eye out."

People here even refuse to become excited about the tax rate in the city and when someone talks about it a whole lot of the good folks just yawn and go to sleep without a word.

And no reason why they should stay up all night worrying. Almost anyone here would be willing to pay double the tax bill to live in Glendale.

Also, they know that city officials are honestly doing the most possible for "the fastest growing city in America" on the least amount of money necessary.

The whole crux of the situation is that "muckrakers" find mighty few of their brethren in our midst. People here are boosters. They see good until they find the bad. Pretty good idea, too.

Relative to the Los Angeles police situation, the Pasadena Star-News comments as follows:

The forces of vice and crime do not proclaim to the world their intentions. They proceed quietly. And their very quietude and secrecy help them to accomplish their ends. Some of the same method should be used in combating these evil forces. Let the reform proceed quietly and discreetly. Let the reformer keep the enemies of law, order and decency guessing, and his work will be more effective and his task will be done more quickly. Do not handicap the reformer and his reforms by talking too much about them. Let the works of reform speak for themselves.

home of the bride's parents. A simple but rich scheme of decoration was used in arranging the home for the reception. In the living and dining room, baskets of golden rod and asters were used. At this time Mrs. Peterson cut her wedding cake, which was served with the refreshments.

Those who assisted in serving were Miss Evelyn Painter, Miss Daisy Winnie, Miss Harriett Ringstrom, Miss Helen Fleischer and Miss Bonita Painter.

Late in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Peterson left for a short wedding trip. Upon their return they will make their home in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Peterson has been a resident of Glendale for the past eight years, attending the local grammar schools and the Glendale Union high school.

Mr. Peterson is a medical student attending the White Memorial Medical college in Los Angeles.

MOON FESTIVAL PLANS COMPLETE

Legion Post's Carnival Will Feature Attractions of Merit, Is Claim

Details of the coming annual Moon Festival that is sponsored by the American Legion would indicate that the members of Post 250 are putting on a real carnival this year. The show opens Friday, August 31, and continues for three days, closing on Monday night, September 3.

A decorative arch has been erected at the entrance to the Garden of the Moon park grounds, where the sidshows and concessions will be grouped to form a midway, which will be twenty-five feet wide.

Local displays and concessions will be grouped on the right-hand side. The concessions will be a variety of novelty attractions such as are usually found in amusement centers, including a country store, fish pond, "nigger" target, etc.

Water carnival plans are progressing and a program is being arranged on which some well-known swimmers and divers will appear. This event is to be held in the outdoor plunge on the park grounds and will be for one day only, Sunday afternoon, September 2.

Booths are under construction and will be ready by the first of next week. They will be opened on Friday afternoon, August 31.

There will be three tent shows off the Midway. A Hawaiian village and merry-go-round are also part of the general plan, as well as two freak shows. The personnel of the latter is a deep, dark secret with the committee, and much mystery is attached to the promotion of this feature. Several wives have offered to hire out their husbands, but it is rumored that newspapermen are more in demand.

The Legion will have charge of the Garden of the Moon open air dance pavilion, and dances will be given throughout the festival. Music will be furnished by Jake Wessner's organization of harmonizers, who are already well known in the valley.

Good Time Assured

Mr. Hunsaker, an experienced amusement promoter, has been engaged to handle the business end of the show and the thorough manner in which he is doing this indicates that a good time will be had by all. He promises that this year's festival will be a very exclusive affair, and no one will be admitted to the Midway unless they are alone or with some one.

The Women's Auxiliary of Post 250 will have charge of the Garden of the Moon restaurant, with Mrs. Begue heading the committee. These ladies have demonstrated the excellence of their cookery on many previous occasions. No dyspepsia tablets will be furnished or needed.

The soft drink concession will be operated by J. J. Scribner, P. Desjardin and M. E. Hill for the Legion. Constable McCarty and two deputies, Guy Wiggins and Pat Wheelan, will see to it that they keep it soft, and otherwise preserve order.

Women Sell Bait

Mrs. Eckert and Mrs. Kellar will be the bait—pardon—will sell bait at the fish pond, where anything may be caught except fish. Cigarettes and candy will be handled by Mrs. Harvey, Mrs. Peterson, a new member of the Auxiliary, and Mrs. Salvage.

Abundant parking space is available for automobiles, and a committee consisting of Joe Johnson, Clyde Hamilton, Ralph Hamilton and Ira Nance will handle the traffic and auto park.

Ticket-takers will be Bob Walker, John Caldwell, Boston Tarpoley, Fred Axe and L. Hare. William H. Gay has been appointed special night patrolman for the duration of the festival.

Dance Committee

The dance committee, who will arrange the programs and manage the pavilion, is headed by R. J. Smith, floor manager; Mrs. John A. Caldwell, Grace Walker, the two Misses Tarpoley and Mrs. W. B. Anderson, hostesses.

All work and arrangements are under the direct supervision of Commander Charles H. Kellar, chairman of the general committee, and George Aiken, assistant.

W. B. Hunsaker, who has charge of the amusement features, is securing the services of some real entertainers and novelties that have never been seen in the valley.

Add Another Story

Plans have been made for an addition of another story to the building now under construction on Sunset boulevard near El Centro for Judge Breit, which is to house the postoffice and Gray & Gray grocery on the ground floor. The second floor will be for lodge rooms for an order of the Masons, and will include reception room, dining room, kitchen and lodge halls. Masons of the valley are ready to communicate with James Robbins, Box 741, Tujunga, Cal., who will be glad to give further information.

North Sunset boulevard property is being improved generally. The Dr. Frost property and the former home of the late Mr. Spray

'CHARLIE' TO DIE

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 24.—"Charlie," the man-killing elephant out at Universal City, who has been sentenced to death, for attacking Curly Stecher, his trainer, is to have a short reprieve. It was learned yesterday, when it was announced that he is to meet his doom during the filming of a realistic jungle scene.

James Blaine, who recently acquired the insurance business formerly conducted by Leo L. Lang, reports a volume of business that takes his resources. He is well pleased with the results of his latest venture.

Leo Lang has been giving his attention to the marketing of a subdivision near Long Beach and Scout work. At present plans are being worked out for a big rally to take place in September, when Scout activities will again be resumed following a period of inactivity due to vacation time.

The entire Verdugo Hills district will participate in this rally, which will be held at La Crescenta. Mr. Lang is one of the committee in charge of the affair. Parents and others interested in Boy Scout work will be welcome, and special efforts will be made to interest them.

Games and athletic events will fill the afternoon part of the program, and a picnic supper will be scheduled for the evening, to be followed by a big camp fire and the usual songs, stories and games. Each troop will be required to present two stunts for the entertainment program.

A brush fire, starting in Zachan canyon, burned off a wide area of ground and swept over into the entrance to Tujunga canyon, menacing several houses that were in the path of the flames. All local fire wardens were on hand and were aided in subduing the fire by the La Crescenta fire department, headed by Chief Young. Nearly 300 volunteers responded to the call and prevented the fire from reaching any of the houses. The area burned was in the neighborhood of the Fitzgerald ranch, just north of Tujunga proper. The quick work of the fire department and volunteers prevented the flames from rushing up Big Tujunga canyon and into the mountain timber.

Mrs. Harriet Hall is a nationally known authority on cooking. She is a graduate of the University of California Domestic Science Department and has a thoroughly practical, as well as scientific knowledge of cooking and baking.

Naturally, Mrs. Hall uses the New Method Range, which is very well known for its five patented features:

1—Enameled steel burner. Consumes more than three times as much air and one-fourth less gas. Instantly removable for washing. Enameled inside and out. Guaranteed for five years.

2—Swinging simmering burner and lighter. Movable from one front burner to the other. Instead of lifting heavy pots, simply swing the little burner to where you want it. Also a lighter when and where you want it.

3—Baking oven. Flames do not touch bottom. No warping or burning out. Absolutely even heat distribution. Baking will brown on top before burning on bottom.

4—Broiling oven. Has burner at each side extending front to back, flame covering evenly entire top of broiling space. Lighted from the front. No possibility of explosion.

5—Counterbalanced oven door. No springs or levers to break, come off or become lost. A perfectly balanced door that is always a source of convenience to the housewife.

Dempsey's 4 Sparring Partners Feel Badly

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 24.—If succor doesn't come along hurriedly in the matter of emergency sparring partners, a world's champion may be compelled to shelve boxing practice. Jack Dempsey has four mates upon his salary list, but George Godfrey complains of rib aches; Jack Burke doesn't feel fit. Billy Wells has a bad flock of knuckles. Jules Rioux is somewhat indisposed.

'HACK AND BOOL' BOUT ARRANGED

Hall Secured for Labor Day Card of Legionnaires; $500 Bet Reported

Glendale's Labor Day wrestling and boxing card will be held on the second floor of the new building, according to an announcement this morning by James H. Wittmeyer of 437 West Broadway, chairman of the boxing committee of the local post of the American Legion.

Owing to the attractiveness of the card arranged by Wittmeyer admitted that the committee had some difficulty in finding a hall which would be large enough to accommodate the expected attendance. It is believed that the place selected, which will be provided with seats for about 1,000 persons, will be well filled.

Although the main event of the evening will be the grappling match between John Hackenschmidt and "Bull Montana," the bouts, which have been arranged by Lester Marston of 103 West Broadway, are expected to attract many spectators from out of the city.

"Arizona Wildcat" is expected to bring a large following from Burbank. He was somewhat dissatisfied when Johnny Meyer of the Glendale Fire Department was given a decision over him recently. He has been looking forward to a return encounter. The local fighter, of course, has many supporters.

The "rattle" between "The Bool" and "Hack" is regarded by those in the know as a real grudge contest. Both are in the movies. Mr. Montagnani as a star and Mr. Hackenschmidt as an extra, and much jealousy is said to exist between them. Regardless of his opponent's success as a comedian, "Hack" is confident of his own supremacy as a mat artist. "Bull," however, offered to bet him $500 that he could not be thrown. If "Hack" succeeds in doing this, it will be a case of "throwing the bull."

Williams, Washburn Win Way to Finals

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 24.—R. Norris Williams II of Philadelphia, and Watson W. Washburn of New York, won their way into the final round of the National doubles championship tournament here yesterday afternoon, defeating James O. Anderson and John B. Hawkes, the Australian team, 7-5, 2-6, 6-2, 6-2. Williams and Washburn will play the winner of the William T. Tilden and B. I. C. Norton match against Manuel Alonzo and Wallace of the Johnson match to be held this morning. The final match will be today. The fourth round of the women's invitation singles tournament was held at the Long Wood Cricket club here yesterday with Mrs. Mallory, New York, winning from Mrs. Covell, England, 6-0, 6-8.

TIA JUANA FIGHT PLANS OUTLINED

Publicity for Border, Maybe, But Dempsey-Wills Go Would Pull Big

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service
NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Granting that his alleged plans originated in nothing more than a double desire to gain publicity for a race track that frankly makes capital of a great national thirst, the proposal of Jim Coffroth to match Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills at Tia Juana during the winter season is not without downright practicability.

A Dempsey-Wills bout, all hokum aside, would draw like an open cut if it were held on the Isle of Yap. At Tia Juana the enterprise might easily become a gold mine.

The fallacy of the age is the popular impression, entertained locally, that all big fights must be held within a trolley car ride of Times Square. The belief is entirely without fact or foundation.

Look What's Here

Within six hours' ride of Tia Juana is the city of Los Angeles, numbering about 800,000 souls. Then, too, there is San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento, Portland and other centers of activity to draw from. The coast is hungry for the flying fist and would travel on hands and knees to a championship fight, the poker chips, and the horse races at the same time. It would have sent more than a fair representation up to Shelby if the latter could have persuaded the doubting public that all was well.

As it was, California had to be content with blocking all traffic in front of newspaper bulletin boards in its haste to get returns. The heavyweight championship bout promoted by a native son just across the line would be in no danger whatever of backfiring financially.

Sectional pride is too keen in California to permit such a calamity. In addition, they have implicit confidence in Coffroth, the Tex Rickard of his day. If he said the fight was on, it would be on like a rivet so far as they were concerned.

Glendale Team Meets White Kings Sunday

Manager Walt Heidler will send his Glendale Merchants against the White King Soap sluggers at the Park avenue and San Fernando grounds on Sunday, and a hotly-contested game is looked for, as the locals are looking for a victim on which to work off their temper after losing last Sunday's contest to the Pasadena Elks in a last-minute finish.

That they are tackling a strong aggregation in the Soap Batters is admitted, as this team staked the Catalina Cubs to a trimming recently, no mean feat in itself, but Heidler refuses to let that scare him, and he will send his strongest line-up against the visitors.

Either Heidler or Harris will be the pitcher selected for Glendale, with Ford Tally flinging them for the visitors.

TAGGING ALL BASES

The Giants broke a disastrous losing streak by defeating the Cardinals, 8 to 7, in the first half of a double-header, but dropped the second, 7 to 4.

The fifth inning was a holocaust for Governor Smith and the Robins, the Cincinnati Reds gathering eight runs and won, 10 to 8, and gained on the league leading Giants.

The Cubs continued their winning streak. They brought the Phillies down, 5 to 3. Cy Williams made his thirty-first homer of the season.

Slugging the Braves, 8 to 3. The receipts went to the American Legion fund for tubercular veterans.

Mogridge kept the Indians from scoring for eight innings, but in the next two rounds they walloped him, defeating the Senators, 2 to 1.

The Athletics wilted before Faber's flinging, and the White Sox took the second straight, 10 to 0.

PROBE BALL SERIES

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Charges of attempted tampering with the affairs of the Cincinnati team by gamblers during the recent series with the New York Giants in Cincinnati resulted in a prompt investigation of the matter by John A. IMPROVEMENT IN FILMS PROMISED

Opening of Paramount Week
To Reveal Advances in Motion Pictures

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The long promised advance in motion picture art has at last begun. Observers of things cinematic say that never before in the history of motion pictures have there been so many big and really worth-while film productions waiting for release as there are at this time. Critics of motion pictures who have been demanding for years that the film studios develop their opportunities are likely to be satisfied this year, if promises and reports from production centers are fulfilled.

More time, effort and actual coin of the realm have been spent on the production of pictures this summer than ever before, observers say, and producers are anxiously awaiting the new season in the hope that attendance at motion picture theatres will justify the tremendous effort which has been expended to improve the artistic standards of motion pictures.

Paramount Week
The eyes of motion picture producers up and down Broadway are centered on theatrical box offices throughout the country during the week of September 2 to 8, when most of the motion picture theatres in the United States will celebrate the sixth annual Paramount Week.

Reduction Production
As one of the steps toward raising the artistic standards of pictures, producers of Paramount Pictures, the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, have reduced the number of pictures which they will release this year. Two years ago there were 104 Paramount Pictures released between September 1 and August 31. Last year there were eighty-two, and this year there will be only fifty-two, or one a week. Although the number of pictures has been radically reduced, all the production resources of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation have been kept intact and will be concentrated on the production of these fewer pictures. Each of the pictures, according to an announcement by the heads of the corporation, will be bigger in every way than any pictures hitherto produced by the company, and as more time has been given to the selection of stories, the casting of the players and the choice of directors and building of settings, observers here say that the production made under this policy will do more than anything else toward offsetting the criticism which has been directed at film productions for the last two or three years.

Improvement of Central Is Ordered by Council
nue and which extends to the sidewalk. He reminded the Council that unless a set-back line is established the erection of similar buildings will make the widening of Central avenue at some future date almost prohibitive in cost.

Inquiry into the reason for filing a condemnation suit instead of merely erecting a set-back line was made by Harry Hague of 1227 South Central avenue. It was explained that such action would better accomplish the purpose from a legal standpoint.

"I believe that there would be considerable opposition to the widening under contemplation unless the idea is clearly understood," remarked Mr. Knox, making an additional explanation. "The idea is really to take such legal steps as to require any buildings, which are to be built, put back ten feet from the present property line. A great many owners have stated that they do not want the curbs and sidewalks moved back yet. This action will act as an insurance policy for the future. Every day that it is delayed that much more expense is entailed."

The present width of Central avenue is 58 feet between curbs. It is planned to ultimately make it a 100-foot boulevard. Attention was called to the fact that elimination of the parkway would have a tendency to make the sidewalk too narrow.

City Engineer Ben F. Dupuy's report on the petition recently received for the installation of ornamental lights on South Central avenue was as follows:

"The petition as checked shows 45.44 per cent of the total frontage petitioning for the improvement."

PICING 20 YEARS AGO RECALLED

Old Timer Tells of Glad Day Enjoyed By Tuesday Club

ping the hundreds of bundles of clothing and supplies for the sufferers of the San Francisco earthquake and fire, and after acquainting themselves nobly of their social duties by entertaining a hundred or more members and guests at a reciprocity luncheon, the "makin's" of which, silver, linen, china, everything, had to be carried by the members to the little library building on Dayton court and Wilson avenue (Third street), the announcement that the members would spend a day playing in Griffith park was received with rejoicing.

The trip to the park was made in "Pa" Gulvin's big wagon, with seats down the sides. "Pa" Gulvin, as he had been affectionately dubbed by the teachers of the grammar school, was the president of the board of education and the team and wagon were the ones used on his "ranch" located on Sixth street, now Colorado boulevard, and Cedar street. A survey carried four more members and the president's runabout and pony were used by two or three guests.

The journey of two miles or more was made without incident except that fording the river at Los Feliz caused some little alarm. Coffee was made on the furnace and a dinner fit for the gods was served.

After lunch the usual pilgrimage up the trail to the top of the historic landmark, Bee Rock, was undertaken. Some with "Excelsior" as their motto succeeded in their endeavors, but an old kodak picture reveals several club members and their families perched precariously on a very slanting rock by the side of the trail, where they were snapped by Mrs. F. L. Church of 225 North Orange street.

By a coincidence the names of members and guests whose pictures were thus taken by Mrs. Church all began with the letter "B," and the picture bears the following inscription, probably the joint efforts of the party:

"Up the heights the 'Bees' do swarm,
To climb the Rock, it proved too warm;
Although on a sliding scale they seem to be,
They are all attuned to the key of 'b.'"

One member spoke a little regretfully of earlier days when the club numbered ten or twelve and enjoyed such good times. If that member could look in now and see that magnificent band of women at the luncheon last June and realize that they were but a part of a club a thousand strong, what would be her comment?

PLAN TERROR REIGN
SACRAMENTO, Aug. 24.—Sacramento is to be subjected to a "reign of terror" by the Industrialists of the World and members of the organization plan to give the city "the same kind of a dose that was administered to Centralia, Wash.," it was learned by state investigators.

ment. Also, this petition calls for two-light standards the entire distance from San Fernando Road to Arden avenue and, as the policy adopted on ornamental street lights requires that one-light standards be placed from Wilson to Arden avenues and two-light standards from Los Feliz Road to San Fernando Road, I would recommend that the proceedings be started in accordance with the policy as adopted.

The question as to whether or not a protest would be made against the installation of these ornamental lights was raised by the City Council. D. C. Bear of 714 South Central avenue stated that he had signed some of the petitions. He stated that he had talked to no one who opposed the improvement. He expressed his opinion that about 90 per cent of the property owners could be signed up if necessary.

the demand would far exceed our supply and it would not be necessary to drive this message home to you. There are few families in Glendale who, "on our Easy Payment Plan," can afford to be without a washer. You probably have sighed and wished for one, looking upon a washer as a luxury. "Luxury"—My Dear Lady, a washer means more to you than 80 per cent of the articles you now have in your home, but you will not realize this until you own one and use it regularly every wash day. Ask your neighbor who owns a washing machine and she will bear out our statement; yet, at one time, she thought just as you do. Are you not depriving yourself unnecessarily of one of the most important and necessary articles of a home?

Pastor Would Permit Sunday Movie Shows

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 24.—"I rebel at the tacit approval of Sunday golf, which is played Sunday morning and takes boys from Sunday school, while the churches object to Sunday afternoon movies," said Rev. Sidney E. Sweet, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church here, sermonizing on "What a Christian Thinks."

"Perhaps the golf players are more numerous in the churches," he continued.

"Why should not people who haven't money enough to join exclusive golf clubs, or to own automobiles, watch moving pictures Sunday afternoons? My conception of Sunday is that all should worship God. Make the movies good for every day and no one can reasonably object to them on Sunday," said Rev. Dr. Sweet.

EAGLE ROCK CITY HONORED AT OIL EXPOSITION

August 30 Is Set Aside As Eagle Rock Day at Long Beach Show

This community has been singularly honored by having Thursday, August 30, set aside as "Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce Day" at the First Annual Oil and Land Exposition, to be held at Long Beach beginning August 25 and continuing until September 5.

The exposition site is situated on the edge of Signal Hill, where giant rotaries grind away all day long and hundreds of derricks dot that vast valuable hillside.

The affair is expected to be one of the greatest of its kind ever held in Southern California, and it is believed that hundreds of local people will be there on August 30, to view the scores of educational exhibits and hear the lectures that will feature the day.

Half Session for Pupils
Eagle Rock pupils attending the Glendale Union High school will be obliged to stay away half of each day until the first of the year, as the new group of buildings being erected at a cost of $600,000 on East Broadway will not be completed until then, and the old structure is greatly overcrowded.

It is therefore urged by the Los Angeles Board of Education that pupils attend the Los Angeles high schools wherever possible. Some manner of transportation will be found, it is said, even if the matter has to be taken up with the Los Angeles Railway Commission, in order to compel the Los Angeles Railway company to transport local students to and from school without dragging them all over the city.

Gans Family On Tour
Mrs. Sol Gans and her daughter, of 103 South Central avenue, are leaving on Saturday morning, September 1, on an extensive tour of the United States. Their itinerary will take them first to San Francisco, then through Salt Lake and Denver to Chicago, thence on to Montreal and Toronto, Canada, via Detroit, Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

From Montreal they will come down through White River Junction, Vt., to Springfield, Mass., and thence on to Boston, Newport and New York. From New York they will go to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, on the way to Lynchburg, Va., Knoxville, Tenn., and Asheville, N. C., where Mrs. Gans will visit her father and sister, and also a brother-in-law who lives in that part of the country.

The return to Eagle Rock will be via the southern states to Kansas City, thence home by way of the Grand Canyon, arriving back about November 1, where they will rejoin Mr. Gans, who is not making the trip.

Automobile Accident
A collision occurred between two cars at the intersection of Colorado boulevard and Eagle-dale avenue at 4 o'clock last Sunday afternoon, when a machine driven and owned by Joe Benson, 3035 Wabash avenue, crashed into one driven by Albert M. Green, 5133 Delaware avenue.

The accident was caused by a confusion of signals. No one was hurt and neither car was damaged beyond repair, although one at least will doubtless never look quite the same again.

Set Aside Glendale Night at Wayfarer

The management of The Wayfarer, the pageant that is to be presented in the Coliseum at Los Angeles next month, has set aside the night of Saturday, September 8, as Glendale night, and it is expected that a large proportion of the people of this city will attend the performance, in which 7,000 persons take part. Mrs. Charles Temple, 145 North Orange, on that night will be seen in the character of Columbia.

Dr. J. E. Crowther, author of The Wayfarer, will deliver an address on the pageant at the Tuesday Afternoon Club luncheon on Thursday, August 30, when he will explain the aims of the production, its scope and the nature of the lesson that it teaches.

Nevada Governor in Conference on Alfalfa

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 24.—Governor Scruggs of Nevada arrived here Thursday and immediately went into conference with Director G. H. Heck, of the state Department of Agriculture relative to the alfalfa weevil situation. Governor Scruggs is here in an effort to have the California quarantine on half of Lyon County, Nevada, lifted. This portion of the county is said to be free from the pest.

LA CRESCENTA FIRE OUTBREAKS KEEP CHIEF BUSY

Brush and Canyon Fires Are Extinguished in Fight
By Department

La Crescenta's fire chief has been quite busy again. On Tuesday a brush fire started by a pile of ashes being dumped in the field, startled the residents in the district of East Piedmont street.

The wind fanned the fire, but a number of housewives fought it till the fire wagon, driven by Jennings Young, arrived on the scene. The fire chief had the misfortune to have both his front tires blow out driving to the fire and made the trip on two rims. No property was damaged.

Yesterday a call was made on the local patrol to help control the canyon fire in Tujunga. No matter how busy he may be, Mr. Young drops everything to respond to an alarm, and it is to be hoped the residents of the valley will rally to the call for fire funds the Improvement Association has issued. Don't forget to mail or take your donation for the local fire-fighting fund to the Montrose State Bank.

Mrs. Mundy, accompanied by her two daughters, Louise and Marie, will spend a week or so visiting friends in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bennett are entertaining as their house guests Mr. and Mrs. Ewatts, old friends from Escondido.

Sells Property
Mr. Cookson sold his valuable corner on Pennsylvania and Michigan avenues this week, the purchaser being Mr. Kurtz, who is boss of the road gang who are paving Pennsylvania boulevard.

Mr. Cookson also sold a five-acre tract in the same locality.

Friends of Dr. Smith and his daughter, Miss Ethylene Smith, will hear of the contemplated removal from this community with regret, as they have been deeply respected citizens, the doctor being an active worker in the community church circles and a valuable member of the school board.

ARMAGEDDON IS SPEAKER'S THEME

Noted Student to Speak In
L. A. Coliseum In Sunday Lecture

Taking as his subject "All Nations Marching to Armageddon," Judge Rutherford, president of the International Bible Students' Association and of the People's Pulpit Association, one of the noted Bible students of the day and an orator known from coast to coast, will speak in the Coliseum on Sunday, August 26, at 3 p. m. Excerpts from Judge Rutherford's lecture follow:

The greatest crisis of the ages is upon the nations of earth. Sensing the coming explosion, statesmen of the world express themselves in this wise:

"1923 is worse than 1914."

"A new chapter opens in the history of Europe and the world, with a climax of horror such as mankind has never yet witnessed."

"We have come to the crossroads and no one knows the way out."

Old World Ended
Fear has laid hold upon the peoples in all walks of life. And why? Because the old world has ended, at which time Jesus declared there would be distress of nations with perplexity, men's hearts failing them for fear of what they see coming on the world. These things have been fulfilled since 1914. Many futile attempts have been made to settle the world troubles. God foretold their failure, and added: "Gird yourselves, and ye shall be broken. . . . Take counsel together, . . . and it shall come to nought." (Isaiah 8: 9, 10.) And why? The answer is, because this is the day of God's vengeance, and his indignation is upon all nations.—Isaiah 34: 1-8.

Armageddon was the great battlefield of Palestine. There Gideon and his army put to flight the Midianites, who in their distress and excitement destroyed each other. Gideon's hand pictured the Messiah, while the Midianites pictured Christendom. That battle of Armageddon foreshadowed the complete downfall of Satan's empire and the establishment of Messiah's kingdom.

Truth to Triumph
The time has come for truth to triumph. The fight is on to the end. It is a battle between right and wrong, between truth and error. The forces of error are led by Satan, the god of this world, acting through his visible governing factors, an apostate clergy and the principal of the flock, made up of big business men and big politicians who hold religion as a cloak for selfish uses. The forces of truth are led by Christ Jesus, the Messiah, now here. All of those who in the light of this day willingly ally themselves with Satan in his nefarious work in fighting against the Lord and his anointed, the Lord declares shall suffer a punishment like unto that which shall be visited upon Satan. All those who willingly ally themselves with Jesus Christ, the king of glory, shall be brought through the time of trouble and, being obedient to righteousness, shall live forever.

The shrewder the diplomat the quicker he turns.

3000 CASUALTIES IN MOROCCAN WAR

1000 Spaniards Die Battling Rebel Tribesmen;
Their Losses Double

MADRID, Aug. 24.—Casualties in the latest outbreak on the Moroccan front were estimated today at 3000—1000 Spanish and 2000 rebel tribesmen. The Spanish victory today is believed to have averted a political crisis. Advice from Melilla said that the Spaniards had collected 300 bodies of tribesmen killed in the fighting around Tifaurin. There are two Spanish columns near Tifaurin ready to go into action if the Rifis attack.

Spanish aviators report that Abdel Krim, leader of the Rifis, is burning alive captive natives who had given assistance to the Spaniards.

Owing to lack of supplies and shortage of convoys, the Spanish forces may be unable to press their victory gained at Tifaurin when the rebel siege was raised. General Weyler is insisting that the offensive be vigorously resumed.
